This constitutes the 42nd Crime in Michigan annual report prepared by the Uniform Crime Reporting Program pursuant to PA 319 of 1968, as amended.

The Department of State Police appreciates the cooperation and support of all the police departments, sheriffs' offices, and specialized law enforcement agencies that provide offense and arrest data for this report. Statewide in 2000, 89% of all law enforcement agencies submitted complete data. Congratulations to the 55 agencies who increased their reporting this year.

Improvements in reporting have resulted in a large increase in the reported number of law enforcement officers assaulted. This is due to changes in the data verification process, and is not an accurate indication of a change in assaults. The reporting change is indicative of an increased emphasis within many reporting agencies for accurate statistics. The efforts of these agencies to produce accurate data greatly contributes to the important issue of officer safety.

In past years, Uniform Crime Reporting data has been published using only actual figures. Beginning with the 1999 report, however, state totals are now calculated by combining actual figures with estimates of missing data. The estimation process has been adapted from that used by the FBI (see Appendix C). The estimation will help to ensure an accurate portrayal of crime trends, and will minimize fluctuations due to reporting discrepancies.

This report, when analyzed, can significantly contribute to management and planning activities at local, state, and federal levels, especially by state officials, the law enforcement community, the Legislature, and nonprofit organizations.

2000 STATE TOTAL
DATA ANALYSIS/ TRENDS

1999/2000 Trends

The valuable contributions of Michigan law enforcement agencies are used to compile this annual report. In the last several years, primarily due to the transition to the MICR reporting system, Michigan has not maintained complete reporting participation. This has led to some fluctuations in statewide figures that may not be indicative of actual changes in crime. To ensure that the Crime in Michigan annual report is indicative of actual crime trends, missing data is now being estimated. The Michigan estimation procedure was adapted from the process used by the FBI. A full explanation of the methodology used to estimate is available in Appendix C.

Estimated state totals show that from 1999 to 2000:

Total Crime	-1%
Index Crime	-4%
Violent Crime (murder, rape, aggravated assault, robbery)	-4%
Property Crime (burglary, larceny, motor vehicle theft, arson)	-4%
Murder	-3%
Rape	3%
Robbery	-4%
Aggravated Assault	-5%
Burglary	-7%
Larceny	-4%
Motor Vehicle Theft	-2%
Arson	-2%

Appendix C

Estimation Procedure

The Michigan estimation procedure was developed based on the process used on the national level by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). The following decisions were made and followed in the estimation procedure:

-Crime will be estimated for both offenses and arrests
-Crime will be estimated to the law enforcement agency level only for the purpose of calculating state totals, not for use at the agency level
-Only state total estimated figures will be published in the annual report
-Population figures used in cross sectional estimating will come from the U.S. Census
-Arrest data will be estimated only for the total, not for the breakdowns of age, race, and sex
-Agencies that are classified as "zero population" (see Appendix B for definition) that fall into the cross sectional estimation method will not be included in the estimation

Three different methods are used, depending on the extent of missing data:

Averaging Method
Definition: Taking the existing months of data, averaging it, and using the averaged figure for the remaining months of missing data.

When Used: When six or more months of actual data exists.

Steps:
-Identify agencies that have reported six or more months of data for the year.
-For each arrest and each offense take the numbers reported, add them together, and divide by the number of months reported.
-Multiply this averaged figure for each arrest and offense by 12.

Longitudinal Method
Definition: Taking the same agency's data from last year, calculating the rate of change between the two previous years, applying this rate of change to last year's data, using these calculated figures for the current year.

When Used: When an agency has reported less than six months of data for the year, but reported 12 months of data the previous two years.

Steps:
-Identify all the agencies that have reported less than six months of data for the current year but reported 12 months of data the previous two years.
-Calculate the rate of change between the two complete years.
-Disregard any data reported during the current year.
-Apply the rate of change from the two complete years to the most recent complete year's data to calculate the current year's estimate.

Appendix C

Estimation Procedure

Cross Sectional Method

Definition: Taking averaged crime rate data from a group of similar agencies and applying this figure to agencies with missing data.

When Used: When an agency has reported less than six months of data for the year, and did not report 12 months of data for the previous year.

Steps:

-Identify all agencies with 12 months of data reported for the current year.

-Place all agencies with full data for this year into the appropriate population group, based on their population.

a) up to 999
b) 1,000 – 2,499
c) 2,500 – 4,999
d) 5,000 – 9,999
e) 10,000 – 24,999
f) 25,000 – 49,999
g) 50,000 – 99,999
h) 100,000 – 249,999
i) 250,000 +

-For each agency, calculate the crime rate for each offense and arrest.

-For each agency, for each offense and arrest, add the total rates within each group and divide by the number of agencies to get an average.

-Apply the averaged figure for each arrest and each offense for those agencies missing data and fitting into the grouping.

PROPER USE OF DATA
Users should note the following factors when analyzing changes in the volume and types of crimes: missing data, population density, urbanization, composition of the population, stability of the population, modes of transportation, economic conditions, cultural characteristics, family cohesiveness, climate, strength and policies of the criminal justice system, and crime reporting practices of the citizenry. When used properly, the data provided in this report can significantly contribute to management and planning activities at local, state, and federal levels, especially by state officials, law enforcement agencies, the legislature, and nonprofit organizations. Questions on the proper use of UCR statistics can be directed to the Crime Analysis Unit or the Uniform Crime Reporting Section of the Criminal Justice Information Center (contact information provided on page 1).

APPENDIX D

Data Use

MONTHS REPORTED

The months reported figure indicates the number of months that an agency submitted data to the state program. Data users should view this with caution, because a month of data does not necessarily indicate that an agency has reported all activity for that month. Several agencies that reported 12 months of data both in 1999 and 2000 have reported either large increases or decreases in criminal activity. It should not be assumed that this is an actual change in crime; it may be a change in reporting. Users should check with the individual departments or with the state program before assuming that changes are indicative of actual trends.

HATE CRIME STATISTICS

A Hate Crime or Bias Crime is a criminal offense committed against a person or property which is motivated, in whole or in part, by the offender's bias against a race, religion, ethnic/national origin, sexual orientation or disability group. Hate Crimes are not separate, distinct crimes, but rather traditional offenses motivated by the offender's bias. The Hate Crime statistics reported to the Michigan Uniform Crime Reporting program may have some reporting inconsistencies. The decision to classify an offense as a hate crime is left to the discretion of the responding law enforcement officer. It is believed that different interpretations of this definition have lead to overreporting by some agencies and underreporting by others. For this reason, Hate Crime statistics should be used cautiously. In addition, the Other Bias category appears to be misunderstood by many reporting agencies. Consequently, all incidents reported as Other Bias have been removed.

MICR STATUS

Michigan Incident Crime Reporting (MICR) is Michigan's incident-based reporting system in which data are collected on each single crime occurrence. MICR provides data to the FBI through NIBRS. The National Incident Based Reporting System (NIBRS) is the result of efforts by the FBI and various law enforcement organizations to improve and modernize the Uniform Crime Reporting program. The implementation of MICR is still progressing throughout Michigan. The majority of Michigan law enforcement agencies are now reporting through the new Michigan Incident Crime Reporting (MICR) system. In 2000, 85% of agencies, representing 78% of the population, submitted data through MICR. Additional information on the MICR program can be obtained by contacting the UCR Section (see contact information on page 1).

MICR CONVERSION

In order to make reporting from all sources consistent, MICR data must be converted back to the traditional UCR format. The MICR database was constructed to allow for such a conversion so that UCR's long-running trend analysis could continue. Most of the data shown in this report is in UCR summary format. Once all agencies in Michigan are reporting through MICR, the statewide data will be available in incident-based format.
