We had a lot of fun with this project. Three kindergarten classes participated with four different letter projects. One class did the posture letters. The same class painted large letters and looked for beginning sound pictures in English. Another class learned plant and animal names for each letter. The third class painted the peek-through letters and looked for beginning sound pictures in Spanish. We used puff paint to decorate.

I intended to run off the learning statement and have the students write their ABC's in the box. Unfortunately I have had to sub a lot. With more time I possibly could have gotten individual statements from students whose work I selected, and, of course the signatures.

I accept full responsibility for display of student artwork & photos without express written parental consent. If you can't use them, please send them back. Thanks!
