

THE STATE AND LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT EQUIPMENT
PROCUREMENT PROGRAM
(THE 1122 PROGRAM)

What is the State and Local Law Enforcement Equipment Procurement Program?

The State and Local Law Enforcement Equipment Procurement Program is a program which allows State and Local governments to purchase law enforcement equipment through Federal procurement channels, provided that the equipment is used in the performance of counter-drug emergency response and homeland security activities. The program affords State and local governments the opportunity to maximize their use of taxpayer dollars, by taking advantage of the purchasing power of the Federal Government to receive discounts commensurate with large volume purchases.

What is the authority for the State and Local Law Enforcement Equipment Procurement Program?

Section 1122 of the fiscal year 1994 National Defense Authorization Act established the authority for this procurement program. Thus, the authority for the State and Local Law Enforcement Equipment Procurement Program resides with the Department of Defense.

Why is the State and Local Law Enforcement Equipment Procurement Program referred to as the “1122 Program?”

“1122” refers to the section of the fiscal 1994 National Defense Authorization Act which established the program; thus, the program is commonly referred to as the “1122 Program.”

What agencies are involved in the 1122 Program?

The U.S. Army, the General Services Administration (GSA), and the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA), are actively involved in the 1122 Program. The U.S. Army is the executive agent of the program.

What are GSA’s responsibilities under the 1122 Program?

Under the provision of the statute, GSA is responsible for the development of a catalog, which not only explains the 1122 Program, but also delineates those products, which may be procured under the program. GSA is also responsible for providing state agencies with training in the use of the catalog, as well as in ordering procedures under the program.

How does the 1122 Program work?

Each state participating in the 1122 Program designates a State Point of Contact (SPOC) to administer the state’s activities under the program, by validating the counter-drug emergency response or homeland security mission of each procurement request

Are there any restrictions for State and local law enforcement agencies regarding the use of products available under the 1122 Program?

The statute limits the use of the 1122 Program to items specifically used in the performance of counter-drug emergency response, or homeland security activities.

Where can I find additional information regarding the 1122 Program?

Further information regarding the 1122 Program, including a listing of State Points of Contact, may be obtained by accessing the following web site at:

Section 3—General Services Administration Information

The General Services Administration (GSA) provides a multitude of commercial and technical products to under the Federal Supply Schedule (FSS) program. Some of the more popular products include: body armor and personal security equipment, ADP equipment, telecommunication equipment, portable power sources, training devices, communications, recording and reproducing equipment (audio and video), small craft and marine equipment, canine and vehicle security equipment, and police patrol and pursuit automobiles. These FSS schedules are lists of vendors who are under GSA contract and offer the same best customer price given to the Federal Government.

The savings over commercial retail prices range from 9% for infrared cameras to 700% for aviation parts. Generally, the savings range from 10% to 32% - money that can be used to make America safer.
