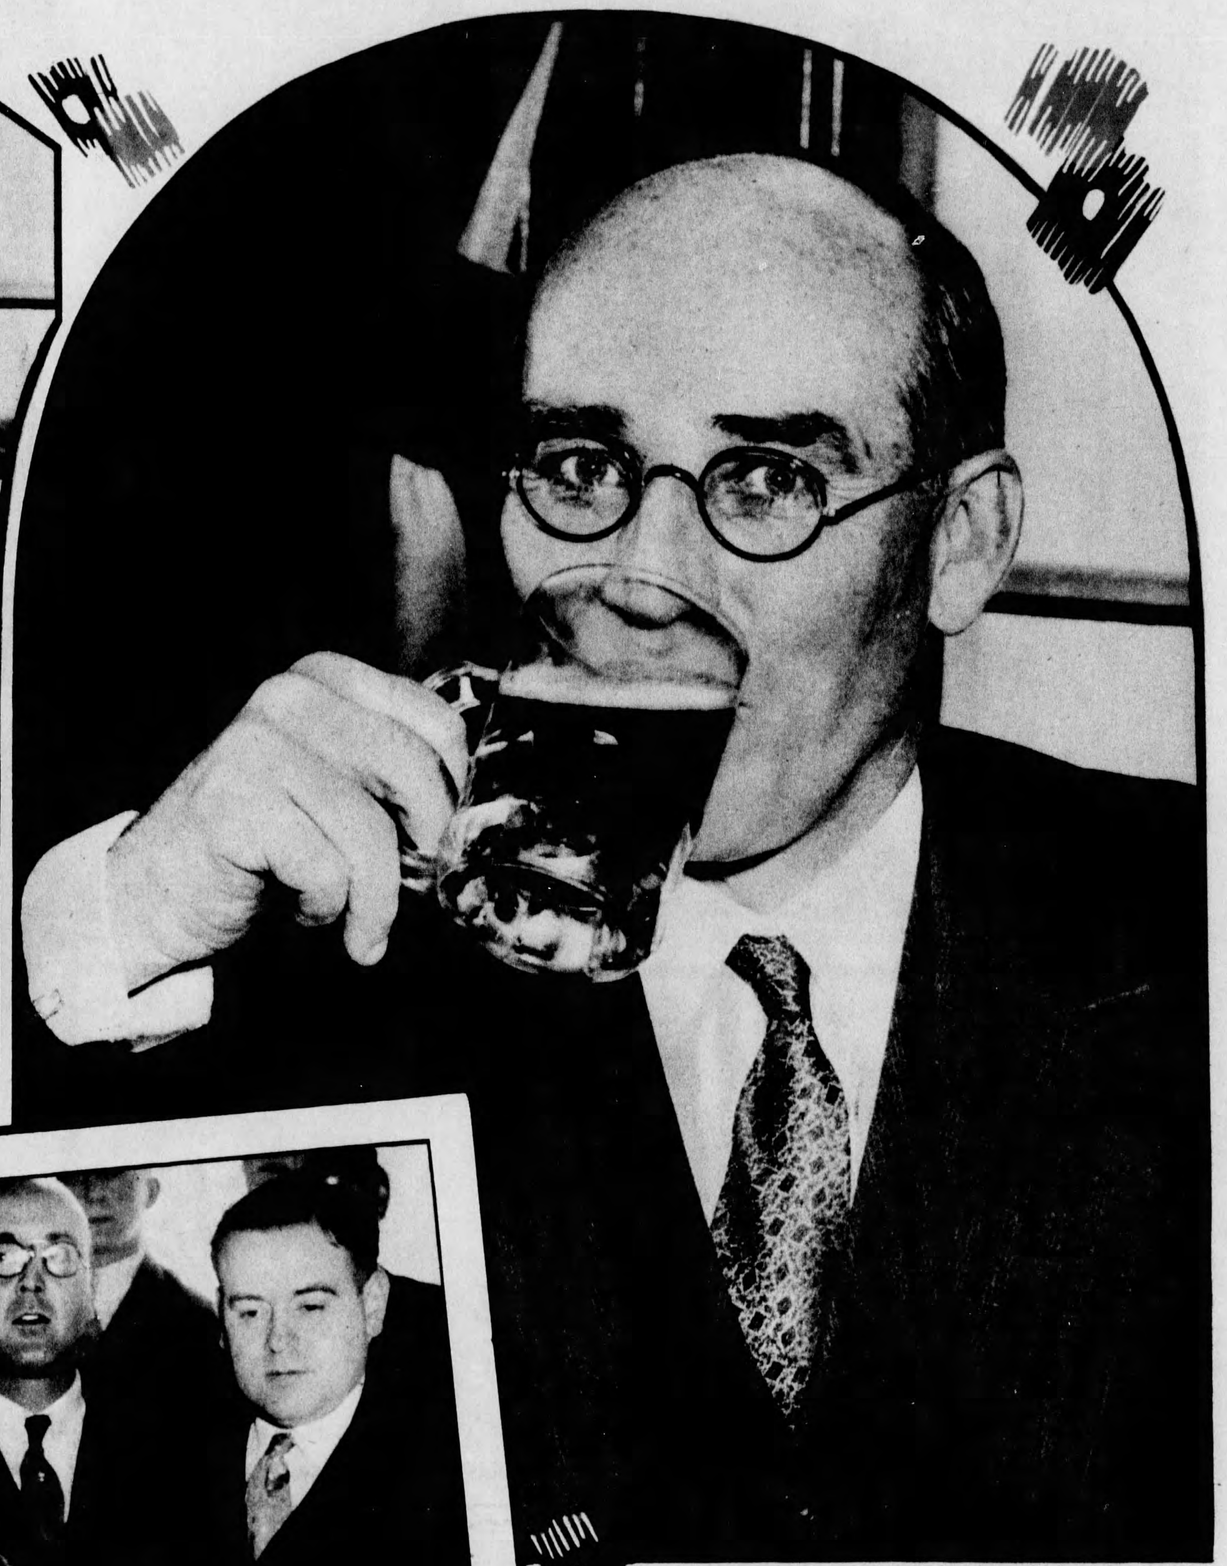
ROTOGRAVURE SUPPLEMENT

The Detroit Free Press

SUNDAY
April 30



At 3:05 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Gov. William A. Comstock signed the Wilkowski Bill, which brings beer back to Michigan after an absence of 15 years.

All photos by Joseph Kalec, Free Press Staff.

And this makes it official! Soon after the beer bill was signed, Gov. Comstock enthusiastically sampled a bottle of the new 3.2 per cent beverage.

J. J. McDonell (left), of Lansing; George Welsh, former lieutenant governor; Senator Adolph F. Heidkamp, and Rep. E. F. Fisher welcomed beer at the old Downey House in Lansing.

Senator Heidkamp, who introduced the Heidkamp Bill providing for the prohibition repeal convention, approves of the quality of the new beer.