

Crime / Fugitive of the Week

June 15, 2006

This week's "Crime of the Week" comes from the files of the Alpena Police Department. On 6-13-2006 at 12:30am, an unknown suspect entered the Dry Dock Bar on River Street in Alpena and committed an armed robbery. The suspect brandished a handgun and confronted the lone female employee demanding that she give him all the money. Although the employee complied, the suspect still struck her in the head before fleeing the establishment on foot in an unknown direction. An undisclosed amount of money was stolen during the robbery.

The suspect is described as a white male in his thirties, 6'00" to 6'05" tall, skinny or thin build, with dirty dark brown hair layered and varying in length from past his ears to short on top. In addition, the suspect's eyebrows met together and his ears were large and long. At the time of the robbery, the suspect was wearing a green and grey sports cap with a white circle design on front, a grey button shirt possibly with white pin stripes, a T-Shirt, and blue jeans. The gun was described as a black semi-automatic handgun.

The Alpena Police Department is requesting the public's assistance with identifying the person responsible for this robbery. Anyone having information regarding the robbery is requested to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-422-JAIL. The information will remain confidential and a caller may remain anonymous. Crime Stoppers will pay up to a $1,000 reward for information that assists in the solving of a criminal act or results in the capture of a wanted fugitive.

If after calling Crime Stoppers a caller wishes to call the Alpena Police Department and provide further information on their tips, additional reward monies may be available. Callers can remain anonymous by identifying themselves through the tip number provided by Crime Stoppers. Additional information can be forwarded to the Alpena Police Department by calling (989) 354-4101.
