COMMUNITY POLICING STRATEGIES
Purpose Area 16

PROBLEM STATEMENT

Increased demands for service and decreased resources have caused criminal justice agencies to determine more effective, efficient and equitable ways to deliver services and decrease crime. Traditional law enforcement strategies are fragmented and required very little input from community residents and service providers. The lack of coordination and cooperation between the police and community often results in counterproductive efforts at addressing the needs of the community.

A coordinated community-police strategy is needed to address the totality of community problems. These partnerships serve to address community problems and to address those problems in an efficient, cooperative manner. This strategy will serve to reduce crime and increase community satisfaction with the police.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The comprehensive approach which is modeled after "weed and seed" initiatives, problem oriented policing and community policing, and dictates a multi-level action plan. There are five basic elements in this plan, which are enforcement, problem-solving initiatives, intervention and treatment, neighborhood restoration, and community prosecution. While all elements of the comprehensive plan are important, projects should emphasize using a problem-solving process to develop long-term resolutions to community problems.
