SECTION III
WORK STATEMENT

A. Brief Description of Work

This contract is for the development and implementation of software modules for the Time Computation system for the Michigan Department of Corrections (MDOC). The development of the modules will be completed in Microsoft .NET and Sybase SQL Stored Procedures. The modules will be interfaced to the DOC's Offender Management Network Information (OMNI) application, which is a PowerBuilder application. In addition to the development of the modules, the contractual staff will be responsible for review of the module programming features with existing staff.

B. Background on the work requested

As part of the Michigan Department of Corrections internal audit evaluation process, the Department committed to a project to convert the Time Computation system from their mainframe legacy system, the Corrections Management Information System (CMIS) to their Client/Services application, the Offender Management Network Information (OMNI) system. The rule calculations as performed on the CMIS system were not completely defined and documented and the system does not perform all calculations correctly. In addition, the current calculations performed by CMIS are so complex that sometimes only an "expert" can understand the calculations. Consequently, the MDOC embarked on the project to convert the Time Computation system on CMIS to the OMNI application.

The goal of the new system was to first define or redefine all rules regarding manual release date calculations, which would then be used as the basis for developing a new application. In many cases, the rules could be redefined making the calculations much more straightforward and understandable. That goal has been completed and all of the manual rules are documented.

The second goal was to implement an application that would not only perform all calculations accurately as defined by the rules, but also to automate several of the processes currently being performed manually to regularly review the credits an offender receives. A credit review occurs annually as well as at the occurrence of other events, such as the offender receiving a major misconduct.

C. Objectives

The purpose of this project is to implement a complete Time Computation system that provides accurate and understandable calculations for all offenders and that will automate all functions related to prisoner release date calculations. This project will also further the Michigan Department of Corrections (MDOC) goal to convert all functions currently on the CMIS application to the OMNI application, thereby allowing the Department to discontinue the CMIS application.

E. Description of the requested work, including deliverables and knowledge transfer.

1. Software Development, Unit and Integration Testing.

All of the specifications for the program modules, including screen designs, have been completed. Following is a brief list of the general functions to be performed by the new program modules. The staff acquired through this contract will be developing the modules in a combination of Microsoft .NET and Sybase SQL Stored Procedures.

- Several mass updates need to be performed loading data from the existing CMIS database to the OMNI database. These updates are for data not currently residing in the OMNI database.
- A monthly batch process will be run that creates credit review records for selected offenders. The creation of a credit review record is based on several factors, including the date of the offender's last review and the offenders pending minimum and/or maximum release date.
- An online process will be developed that will process the credit review records created above. That process includes assigning the initial review record to specific staff, then automatically re-assigning the review to additional staff, depending upon the action taken on the review record. The final step is to apply that review record to the offender's release dates. The process of defining groups of staff to which reviews can be assigned is also included in this project.
- An online transaction entry process will allow the user to enter various transactions that need to be applied to an offender's dates. Those transactions include initial time calculation, forfeiture of credits, restoration of credits, application of escape time, etc. In addition to accepting these transaction one at a time, the process must also allow the user to wipe out the existing dates and automatically re-apply any transactions that have been previously applied.
- A process will be implemented to allow the user to print out various Departmental forms that are generated as a result of the entry of each transaction.
- Another batch process will be required to generate an annual "statement:" for offenders showing each of the transactions that occurred during the prior year and the effect each of those transactions had on the offender's release dates. This will start as an online statement that first needs to be reviewed and approved by the Central Time Unit staff, which will then cause the statement to be printed and delivered to the offender.

1. Technical Support and training for DIT project team

Contractual staff will provide a technical review with DIT project team's developers with regard to the software developed, thereby enabling existing staff to provide continued support for the modules. Key deliverables:

- Forward all developed modules to the DIT project team supervisor.
- Review each module with the DIT project team to provide knowledge transfer.

F. Any specific regulations, requirements or expertise applicable, including specific background/security checks required.

All prospective contractors will be required to pass background and security clearance prior to the start of the date of this contract at the contractor's expense.
