

REGINALD K. LAYTON
DIRECTOR OF DIVERSITY BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT,
JOHNSON CONTROLS, INC.

Reginald K. Layton, 46, is director of Diversity Business Development for Johnson Controls, Inc. In this position, he is responsible for overseeing all diverse purchasing activities of Johnson Controls company-wide. He has been with the company since 1997. Johnson Controls spent more than $1 billion each year with diverse firms since 2002. The company's achievements have garnered prestigious recognition, as Johnson Controls was named Corporation of the Year and Mr. Layton was named Minority Business Enterprise Advocate of the Year by the National Minority Supplier Development Council in 2003. Johnson Controls is also a member of the Billion Dollar Roundtable, an elite group of corporations that spend more than one billion dollars with minority and women-owned firms.

Reginald Layton received his Bachelor's Degree in Management Science in 1986 and Master's in Economics in 1989 from Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio. He serves on the board of directors for the National Minority Supplier Development Council (NMSDC) and chairs the board of directors for the Central and South Texas Minority Business Council (CSTMBC). He also serves on the advisory board for the Tuck School's Minority Business Executive Program at Dartmouth College in Hanover, New Hampshire.