

Electronic Waste Recycling

Ford Motor Company Livonia Transmission Plant & Automatic Transmission New Product Center and Veolia Environmental Services

The Livonia Transmission Plant and Automatic Transmission New Product Center environmental engineers partnered with Veolia Environmental Services to hold an Earth Day event for employees and their families to bring in used electronics for recycling. Over five tons of electronic waste were recycled and kept from the landfill. Additionally, environmental awareness information was also distributed to employees on how other household waste could be recycled.

