EMDO's environmental system, using ISO 14000 as a guideline, will identify and address significant environmental aspects and strive to:

- Establish programs with objectives and targets for waste minimization and pollution prevention.
- Ensure our employees understand the EMDO environmental policy and our system environmental control and improvement programs.
- Maintain procedures to deal promptly and effectively with environmental emergencies

We are committed as a team, to provide support, resources, training, and empowerment of each team member to fully implement these systems and request the full support and assistance in this effort.
