General Motors Detroit-Hamtramck and the Michigan Urban Farming Initiative

In September 2014 volunteers from General Motors Detroit-Hamtramck partnered with The Michigan Urban Farming Initiative to engage members of the Michigan community in sustainable agriculture. The volunteers worked at the urban farm harvesting fresh vegetables to sell as well as pulling weeds from the garden. The challenges unique to the Michigan community (e.g., vacant land, poor diet, nutritional illiteracy, and food insecurity) present a unique opportunity for community supported agriculture.
