

Personal Computer Recycling Drive

The United States Army Garrison Detroit Arsenal and Great Lakes Electronics Corporation

---

The United States Army Garrison Detroit Arsenal in partnership with the Great Lakes Electronics Corporation (GLEC) has held an e-waste recycling drive annually since 2005. Employees are able to drop off their material in the containers at the facility warehouse at no cost to the employee. At the end of the week, the material is picked up by GLEC for recycling. Since inception the program has kept over 26.4 tons of electronic waste from the landfill, with 1.4 of those tons being from 2014 alone. This program enables employees to get rid of unwanted electronics and dispose of them properly, thus helping the environment as well as the employee.
