Weyerhaeuser grows and harvests trees, builds homes, and makes forest products essential to everyday lives. Our company, headquartered in Federal Way, WA, was founded in 1900 and now has offices or operations in 11 countries, with customers worldwide.

It is Weyerhaeuser's core policy to be responsible stewards of the environment wherever we do business. We will practice sustainable forestry, set and meet goals to reduce pollution, conserve natural resources and energy, reduce waste, and continually improve our environmental performance.

All employees and leaders worldwide are accountable for managing and operating our businesses to:

- Comply with all applicable environmental laws
- Follow company environmental policies
- Meet other external requirements to which the company commits

For more than a century we've been inspired by trees. Their strength, vitality and unlimited potential guide us as we create imaginative, sustainable solutions to the world's challenges. This innovation is fueled by the ingenuity of our people - our employees, customers, suppliers and the communities around us. Together we make the most of one of our planet's most valuable renewable resources.

We at Grayling are committed to environmental stewardship and bringing value and volunteerism to our community and the state of Michigan. We demonstrate our commitment with engineered emission control equipment that comprises almost one third of our assets and through an in-house recycling program for our waste streams. Our annual river clean-up events are coordinated with the Weyerhaeuser Making Waves Foundation to generate $1000 grants to local 501C3 organizations. We are proud to be a part of the Grayling community and, through continued environmental stewardship, plan on being the best neighbors we can be.
