Garbage! The Revolution Starts at Home

Every day households consume and waste more than they could ever realize. In Garbage! The Revolution Starts at Home, filmmaker Andrew Nisker shows what happens when the average family holds on to all the garbage they create in a 3 month span. The McDonalds family is chronicled in this documentary and then taken on a trip to discover where their waste goes after they toss it in the trash. The film website even offers helpful hints for families that want to make changes and just don't know where to start. More information on this film can be found at www.garbagerevolution.com.
