DISTRICT 1

Conservation Officer (CO) Matt Eberly ran the shotgun range for Camp Nesbit where 53 kids from Lake Linden and Dollar Bay Schools participated in the hunter safety field day. CO Eberly reported that all of the students did well. CO Hermanson assisted CO Eberly at the shotgun range.

CO Ethen Mapes patrolled the Ontonagon River on opening day of walleye season. CO Mapes contacted over 40 anglers with varying success. CO Mapes took law enforcement action for several marine violations during his patrol on the river.

COs Ethen Mapes and Brian Lasanen patrolled Lake Gogebic just before sundown and were able to locate a shore fisherman who was weathering the rain. The angler was surprised to see the COs out on the lake in the bad weather.

CO David Miller, while working Huron Bay on the walleye opener, located three lines along the shore hidden in the trees. CO Miller hid his patrol boat and observed the lines for almost an hour. After no one tended the lines during this time frame CO Miller walked over to the three rods, which were located near a camp, and reeled them up. No one came out of the camp, so CO Miller went over and knocked on the door. The suspect admitted that they were his and he had forgotten about them. Law enforcement action was taken for failing to attend fishing lines. CO Denny Gast instructed the trapper education portion of the hunter safety program at Camp Nesbit, with nearly 60 sixth graders attending from Lake Linden and Dollar Bay Schools. COs Brian Lasanen, Ethen Mapes, and Adam LeClerc served a warrant on a subject for shooting a pheasant out of season and for hunting small game with no license.

CO Ethen Mapes was checking anglers coming off of the water in Ontonagon when he observed a subject struggling to back his trailer down the boat launch. When CO Mapes approached the boat, one subject stated, "Crap, it's the DNR." While checking the angler's fish they had caught, CO Mapes had to yell at the driver of the truck, who was backing the trailer, to stop before he backed into the rocks along the launch. With the trailer jack-knifed, the driver stumbled out of the vehicle. After performing standard field sobriety tests and refusing to submit to a preliminary breath test, the driver was placed under arrest for OWI. Charges have also been filed for refusing a preliminary breath test. Turned out all of the fish were of legal size.

COs Ethen Mapes and Brian Lasanen patrolled Lake Gogebic and noticed that a boat had an expired registration out of Wisconsin. The anglers stated that they were in the process of renewing their registration and a Wisconsin Game Warden had told them that it was ok to take the boat out. Law enforcement action was taken for failure to display a valid registration on the watercraft after verifying that the watercraft was indeed unregistered.

CO Matt Eberly is working on a possible arson investigation, where evidence was discovered near the origin of a wildfire which burned nearly 5 acres of private timber land, just north of Hancock. CO Eberly is working with fire officers out of Twin Lakes and the Houghton County prosecutor to obtain a search warrant – the investigation continues.

CO Doug Hermanson found an elderly gentleman that had apparently drove his vehicle down the boat ramp at Parent Lake to take a look at the water. CO Hermanson found the vehicle running, still in gear, and the driver sound asleep with his foot on the brake. CO Hermanson assisted the individual with finding a better place to take his nap.

CO David Miller assisted DEQ personnel and the Army Corp of Engineers with a permit investigation on Huron Bay. While checking the location, which is only accessible by water the crew also checked the Huron Island Lighthouse dock.

CO Denny Gast attended the Hancock Schools hunter safety class. CO Gast instructed the students on the law portion of the class. Just over 60 students attended the class during the week and they are preparing for the field days at Camp Nesbit, next week.

CO Denny Gast cut short a high school senior party on state land Thursday night. Over 50 students cleaned up the site and put out the bonfire before leaving the area.

COs Brian Lasanen and Ethen Mapes made contact with an angler fishing from his dock on Lake Gogebic. As the COs where performing a routine fishing check on the angler, he stated his license was up at the camp. CO Mapes followed the angler to his camp to retrieve his license. As CO Mapes was walking to the camp he noticed a stringer in the water with two fish on the end of the stringer. Upon further investigation, it was determined the two fish were smallmouth bass. CO Lasanen and CO Mapes interviewed the angler on the small mouth bass, the subject stated he knew bass season was closed for possession, but he just wanted to show his wife what he had caught. Law enforcement action was taken for possession of small mouth bass out of season.

COs Brian Lasanen and Ethen Mapes conducted a marine patrol on Lake Gogebic. Both COs made numerous contacts with anglers and fishermen. COs addressed the following violations: unregistered watercraft, failure to display proper registration, and failure to provide a personal flotation device (PFD). Law enforcement action was taken.

CO Brian Lasanen conducted a marine patrol on Lake Gogebic. During the patrol CO Lasanen contacted one boat with four people fishing on board. When CO Lasanen asked for their fishing licenses three of the anglers provided their 2016 fishing license and one angler handed CO Lasanen his 2015 fishing license. CO Lasanen advised the angler that had produced the 2015 license that it was last year's fishing license. The angler shuffled through his wallet attempting to locate his current fishing license as CO Lasanen check in retail sales. It was determined the individual had not purchase a 2016 fishing license and law enforcement action was taken.

COs Jared Ferguson, Adam LeClerc, Brian Bacon , and Shannon Kritz assisted with the annual kayak float on the Brule River with participating local high schools and the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources COs . Several of the students stated that they have never been in a kayak but felt safe knowing the COs were assisting. Over forty students participated in the float.

CO Jared Ferguson received a complaint on two subjects fishing on Fumee Lake in Dickinson County. The lake is closed to fishing per a county ordinance. CO Ferguson located the two subjects on shore and found the 11 year olds to be in possession of a bass. CO Ferguson educated them with an explanation of the ordinance and advised them that bass were not in season.

CO Shannon Kritz responded to a fire complaint that involved a fire that had escaped. No burn permits were being issued that day and enforcement action was taken.

CO Mark Leadman received a complaint of a possible forest fire near Deer Lake in Marquette County. Deer Lake is a trophy fishing lake with restrictions on live bait and a catch and release only regulation. CO Leadman launched his boat to investigate the fire and discovered a campsite. Upon contact CO Leadman observed a fishing pole with a worm attached. When asked what the subjects were fishing for the response was northern pike. Northern pike season was still closed. The subjects camping also had failed to register their watercraft and were short a PFD. Enforcement action was taken with the violations. The fire was also properly extinguished.

CO Brett DeLonge received a complaint of a vehicle stuck in Harlow Lake in Marquette County. Upon arrival, the vehicle was in the water past the hood. A tow truck was called. The vehicle was removed from the lake. As the vehicle was being towed out of the lake the owner showed up and it was established that he drove into the lake on purpose. He just didn't plan on getting stuck. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Brett DeLonge was patrolling a section of the Cedar River in Menominee County when he observed a group of anglers fishing near a bridge. A quick check of the group led to one angler not possessing a fishing license. Additionally, a spear was located nearby which is prohibited from being possessed on a designated trout stream. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Brett DeLonge was patrolling for ORVs in Menominee County when he observed a four wheeler pass by him with the operator not wearing a helmet. CO DeLonge stopped the ORV and after making contact with the operator found that the ORV was not registered and the operator did not have a valid driver's license. Enforcement action was taken.

During the walleye opener on Little Bay de Noc CO Pat Hartsig contacted many fishing parties on the bay. The bite was slow, but there were more than the usual amount of fishermen due to the Cabela's Walleye tournament. Enforcement action was taken for marine violations such as expired watercraft registrations and not having enough PFD on-board vessels.

Sgt. Jerrold Fitzgibbon, and COs Pat Hartsig, and Chris Lynch attended a wildlife collation meeting in Escanaba and answered many resource questions.

CO Chris Lynch worked ORV complaint areas through the week issuing 6 tickets and several warnings for violations including operating on a public highway, fail to license ORVs, no helmets, riding double, railroad trespass, operating against the flow of traffic, minors operating unsupervised, and minors operating with no ORV certificate.

COs Chris Lynch and Pat Hartsig assisted the Delta County Sheriff Department in the arrest of a subject with a felony warrant for felonious assault. The suspected was arrested without incident and lodged in the Delta County Jail. A search warrant for the suspect's vehicle and residence was obtained and the search turned up the weapon used in the assault along with marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

The fire danger was high and the fire started to get away. The fire was quickly contained. A ticket was issued for burning without a permit.

CO Michael Evink received a fire complaint from his regional dispatch. CO Evink was able to locate the fire scene and the individual who was burning. After a brief encounter CO Evink recognized the suspect as an individual who sat on the jury of a burning without permit trial earlier in the year. In that trial the jury found in favor of the DNR. A ticket was issued for burning without a permit.

While following up on an ongoing fur complaint, CO Robert Freeborn finished the final interviews and was able to prove an over limit of fisher was taken. The subject stated that when he noticed that he had an over limit in his trap line, he had his buddy who had been helping set traps buy a tag and tag the fisher. Both subjects received citations.

While working opening day of walleye season, CO Robert Freeborn and Sgt. Jerrold Fitzgibbon contacted a boat that was trolling. The COs asked for fishing licenses, two of the three produced licenses. When the third subject was asked for his license, he stated he didn't think he was fishing but when he turned around and looked at the lines in the water and counted 7 lines he stated, "Well I guess I am fishing". A citation was issued for fishing without a license.

While working the opening day of walleye season, CO Robert Freeborn and Sgt. Jerrold Fitzgibbon were closing in on a boat and noticed a subject frantically reeling in 2 lines. When the COs pulled alongside of the boat, the COs noticed two poles lying in the bottom of the boat that were still wet. When the COs asked the fishermen about the lines in the bottom of the boat, the fishermen paused and eventually admitted to fishing two lines over. A citation was issued.

CO Robert Freeborn received a complaint from the local foresters regarding a logger that cut ¼ acre of state land along a snowmobile trail easement. CO Freeborn made contact with the logger who stated he wasn't aware of the easement along the snowmobile trail. The logger will be making contact with the foresters to work out reimbursing the state for the stumpage taken.

CO Calvin Smith responded to a call from dispatch for a brush fire that had gotten out of control. An elderly couple had started a brush pile on fire in a wooded area and due to the extremely dry conditions the fire quickly spread. The local police department was first on scene and advised that an individual that was attempting to extinguish the flames was missing. The CO was able to locate the individual and escort him back to safety. In all, three local fire departments including the DNR fire division were called in to battle the fire. No open burn permits were being issued and law enforcement action was taken.

COs Mark Zitnik and Calvin Smith while on routine patrol came across a fisherman that had left his truck and trailer parked in the boat launch at a small lake, frustrating others that were attempting to launch their boats. After waiting for nearly two hours the fisherman finally returned and said he was surprised to see COs because the weather was poor and didn't think anyone else would be fishing either. Law enforcement action was taken.

COs Mark Zitnik and Calvin Smith worked the walleye opener making marine and fishing regulation checks. Multiple contacts were made and enforcement action was taken on violations consisting of no PFD'S and expired watercraft registrations.

Sgt. Jerrold Fitzgibbon along with COs Mark Zitnik and Calvin Smith responded to a complaint of illegal gill nets set in Munising bay. Several legally set nets were observed with locations recorded. The information gathered by the COs was relayed to the Great Lakes Enforcement Unit.

CO Calvin Smith arrived at a local lake and observed a fisherman preparing his kayak for the lake. When asked if he had a PFD and the fisherman replied, "no, do I need one?" CO Smith advised the fisherman that he indeed needed one. The CO gave the fisherman a marine pamphlet and directions to the closest store that sold PFDs.

Sgt. Jerrold Fitzgibbon and CO Calvin Smith conducted a group patrol with GLIFWC and Bay Mills Indian Tribe on Munising bay and surrounding waters. The patrol focused on both commercial and tribal netting activity. Several net locations were documented and one tribal commercial fishing vessel was inspected while tending their nets.

COs John Wenzel and Bobby Watson were checking fishermen on the opening day of walleye season when they encountered two fishermen coming off a local lake. A check of the days catch revealed a short walleye. Enforcement action was taken.

CO John Wenzel was patrolling a remote branch of the Tahquamenon River when he encountered several fishermen. They stated they haven't seen a CO in this area since 1999 when they first purchased a cabin on the river. Three of the four did not have their fishing licenses with them but had in fact purchased them. They were all very happy to see a CO in the area and advised they would be sure to have their licenses' with them in the future.

COs Brett Gustafson and Jeff Panich were prepping a vessel for the marine season when central dispatch advised that a body had been located in Lake George on the east side of Sugar Island. The COs assembled the safe boat as well as a 14' utility boat and enlisted the assistance of FRD Forester Josh Brinks. The three met with a marine officer from the Sheriff's Office and patrolled to the location. High winds and seas hampered towing the 14' boat behind the Safe Boat, CO Panich dressed in his "Mustang Suit", drove the 14 footer alongside the safe boat in 2-3' seas, heavy rain, and fog. CO Gustafson piloted the safe boat in the channel and CO Panich took the marine officer and forester to the island where the body was discovered. CO Panich and Forester Brinks waded in the water and recovered the body, which was then transported to the safe boat and taken back to the launch where the medical examiner took possession of the body.

CO Bobby Watson spent the second half of the walleye and pike opener patrolling with a college student interested in becoming a Michigan CO. Many positive contacts were made throughout the day. The wind and precipitation was keeping a lot of fishermen from fishing throughout the entire day and catch rates were down. CO Watson was checking a local river when contact was made with a boat full of fishermen. They informed CO Watson they had one pike in the boat. After a measurement was taken, CO Watson discovered the pike was undersized. CO Watson also discovered after inspecting the fishermen's boat further, that the individual had never transferred the vessel registration after he purchased the boat from a friend. The man also had failed to apply the appropriate "MC" registration numbers and was instead displaying a very old registration out of Indiana. Enforcement action was taken. COs Bobby Watson and Jon Busken were conducting a plain clothes patrol in response to complaints of short pike being kept near Drummond Island. COs Watson and Busken observed the nearby fishermen react oddly when CO Jeff Panich approached the bay in a marked patrol vessel. CO Watson and Busken were able to watch a single boat sneak out of the group of fishermen and head back to the launch before CO Panich was able to make contact with them. CO Watson and CO Busken approached the boat which was already in the process of loading up onto a trailer. When CO Watson inquired with the young fisherman if he had done any good, the fisherman responded that he was not fishing but his grandpa caught two. CO Watson identified himself as a Michigan CO and informed the angler that he had watched him fish for quite some time and there was no point in lying. He replied, "I know, that was stupid". Enforcement action was taken.

CO Brett Gustafson attended the Sportsman's Coalition Meeting held in St Ignace at the Hiawatha National Forest Office. Topics covered were: recent CAC meeting, ORV plan for the National Forrest, grouse and woodcock management, and planting of oak trees to possibly replace the mast production lost from beech disease.

CO Jon Busken was contacted by a resident of West Mackinac County who found what he thought was a "large coyote" on the side of US-2. The officer responded and found the animal to be a wolf that had been killed when it was hit by a car. The animal was recovered. CO Jon Busken patrolled Cedarville on the walleye and pike opener. Contact was made with a vessel and subjects fishing the operator stated that he had forgotten all of his life jackets at the truck. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Jon Busken patrolled Hessel on the walleye and pike opener. A vessel with an expired registration passed the CO's patrol boat in the channel. Contact was made with the operator who was found to have not transferred his title and was operating with an expired registration. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Jon Busken contacted two anglers on Brevort Lake, one of the anglers immediately provided his fishing license while the other took quite some time to look for his license in his wallet. After several minutes the CO asked if he had a fishing license. The individual said he did not, but provided the last license he had purchased. The CO told the man that the 2008 license was no longer valid. Enforcement action was taken.

DISTRICT 3

While on patrol CO Andrea Erratt stopped an unlicensed ORV traveling on a closed roadway in Antrim County. In 2011, when the driver had been stopped by CO Erratt on the same road, he was ticketed for operating an ORV without a helmet and warned for operating an unlicensed ORV on a closed roadway without a headlight. CO Erratt ticketed the driver for operating an unlicensed ORV and warned him again for operating on the closed roadway.

CO Erratt reports the individual who fled and attempted to elude her on a motorcycle was arraigned in Charlevoix District Court. He was charged with three counts of third degree felony flee and elude, second offense OWI, resist and obstruct a CO and reckless driving.

CO Erratt brought educational materials to students at the Boyne City American Legion during the Veteran's Appreciation Day. Over 600 students from several local schools attended. While on patrol CO Erratt received a complaint from campers about ORVs going by their campsite, operating on a snowmobile trail. Sgt. Mike Feagan and CO Erratt had recently posted "NO ORV" signs in the area to address excessive illegal ORV operation. Later that day CO Erratt stopped a group of ORVs that had just passed a "NO ORV" sign on the same trail. The ORV operators said they had traveled on snowmobile trails from Lakes of the North to Wolverine for lunch and were headed back. CO Erratt explained that the DNR manages snowmobile trails on state land to keep them smooth for future snowmobile operations and that the trails were not designated opened to ORVs. They stated they followed the trails alongside US 131 in Antrim County. CO Erratt explained those snowmobile trails are not open to ORVs because they go through private property and on the state highway right-of-way. Tickets were issued for operating ORVs in a closed area on state land.

While patrolling for ORV activity CO Erratt observed a side-by-side ORV exiting a closed trail on state land being followed by a quad ORV driven by teenagers riding double with no helmets. After CO Erratt stopped the second ORV operated by a 14 year old boy with a 13 year old passenger, the father, who was in the side-by-side, backed up to the COs location with the other ORVs. CO Erratt observed a six year old boy sitting on his mother's lap in the side-by-side. CO Erratt ticketed the father for operating an unlicensed ORV on a closed trail on state land. CO Erratt warned them for the transporting a passenger with no safety belt, the unlicensed quad, juveniles operating ORVs in a closed area on state land without safety certificates, no helmets, and riding double.

While on patrol for ORV activity CO Erratt drove up to a large mud truck that had just tore up a muddy area next to a road on state land. The driver first claimed his truck was in two-wheel drive but later admitted he had been messing around in the muddy hole. CO Erratt ticketed the driver for operating in a wetland and warned him for "turfig".

While patrolling Chandler Hills in Charlevoix County for ORV activity, CO Chad Baldwin encountered ORVs operating on a closed trail. The operators had driven past several "NO ORV" signs. In addition, the ORVs were carrying passengers when not designed to do so. Enforcement action was taken.

The subjects had cut several large standing trees and had cut a trail through the woods to access the timber. A ticket was issued for cutting standing timber and the subjects were warned for damaging trees and cutting an off-road trail into the woods.

CO Albert received a citizen complaint of three subjects fishing the closed portion of the Intermediate River in Bellaire. The complainant advised they told the subjects the river was closed to fishing, but they continued to fish. CO Albert contacted the subjects who claimed to not know the river was closed to fishing. One of the subjects who did not buy a fishing license provided CO Albert with a false age and date of birth. The subjects were cited for fishing in a closed area and for fishing without a license.

CO Mark DePew is assisting an Alaska State Trooper/Game Warden in the investigation of an illegally killed brown bear. The witness had been on a hunt in Alaska and lives in northern Michigan.

CO Ross and CO Webster received a complaint from a property owner who evicted a tenant and upon inspecting the property located two rotten deer hanging in the garage. COs contacted the suspects and received confessions to shooting a buck in violation of the county's antler point restriction. Charges are being sought through the prosecutor's office.

CO Fox was issuing citations to a group of ORVs when he observed a vehicle drive by without a license plate. A traffic stop was conducted and a subsequent investigation revealed that the driver did not have registration or insurance on the vehicle. Enforcement action was taken. CO Fox responded to a fire near Lake May in Presque Isle County. A subject was clearing brush and started two brush fires on the forest floor. The fire got out of control and started to burn nearby trees. Local road commission members and fire departments responded to extinguish the fire. The subject was issued a citation for burning during a burn ban.

CO Fox responded to a motorcycle personal injury accident. The operator left the roadway and struck a tree. CO Fox assisted with traffic control. The crash is currently under investigation.

DISTRICT 4

CO William Kinney was patrolling the northern part of Wexford County for ORVs, when he was approached by a Polaris Ranger with two occupants on board. CO Kinney made contact with the individuals to advise them they were not permitted to operate their ORV on this portion of state land. After further investigation, it was found that the individual was operating an unlicensed ORV and also had an open container of alcohol in the cup holder. Enforcement action was taken.

CO William Kinney received a complaint from the local fire chief in Osceola County that his fire crews were sent to put out an illegal fire. The fire chief stated that an individual had been burning treated lumber, pieces of scrap building materials, and a tire. The individual had also been burning during high fire danger and had used diesel fuel to start the burn pile. CO Kinney responded to the area the next morning and was met by the property owner. The CO could see the remnants of the burn pile. The individual did not know that he couldn't burn building materials and was unaware of any burn restrictions. He did state that he knew he couldn't burn the tire, but wasn't sure how to dispose of it. Enforcement action was taken for the unlawful burning of solid waste.

While on marine patrol on Lake Cadillac, CO William Kinney pulled alongside a boat to check for fishing licenses. Both the anglers had their fishing licenses. CO Kinney then asked if there were any life jackets aboard. The owner of the boat was unable to present the CO with any. Enforcement action was taken.

CO William Kinney was checking fishermen on Lake Cadillac when he pulled alongside a husband and wife out fishing. The couple showed the CO their fishing licenses and also showed the CO a basket full of fish they had recently caught. The lady on board was so excited to tell and show CO Kinney her big catch for the day. The CO noticed the large fish in the basket that the lady was bragging about what happened to be a large mouth bass and the season did not open for another week. When CO Kinney brought this to the couple's attention they immediately felt terrible and stated they never would have kept it if they would have known. The husband then pulled out the fishing guide and showed the CO where he had found the season dates for bass. CO Kinney advised the husband that he was looking on the wrong page and that date did not pertain to inland bodies of water. The man then realized his error and was very apologetic for their mistake. CO Kinney was able to release the bass and the fish swam away. CO Kinney understood the couple had made a mistake, but made sure to stress the importance of understanding the regulations prior to fishing. The couple was very thankful for CO Kinney's discretion.

CO Josiah Killingbeck was on patrol when he observed an ORV side-by-side stopped by a gated USFS road next to M-37 in Lake County. CO Killingbeck made contact with the driver who was very hesitant to answer questions. Finally the driver stated to the CO that no matter what he said he knew he would get a ticket and ultimately admitted that he had driven around the gate to operate on USFS property and admitted to several other operation violations. Two young children were also sitting in the bed of the side-by-side without restraints. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Josiah Killingbeck was patrolling for ORV violations in Lake County when he observed a truck trespassing on a utility right-of-way and had driven past a "No Motorized Vehicles" sign. CO Killingbeck stopped the driver of the vehicle who told CO Killingbeck that he was just trying to turn around. The driver was also not wearing a seatbelt and informed the CO that it was "hard for him to turn around in the roadway" and appeared to be much easier to "drive off the road and spin the truck around." CO Killingbeck asked the driver what he believed the signs meant and the driver stated it means "stay out." Enforcement action was taken.

CO Josiah Killingbeck stopped to check a group of ORVs at a Lake County trail crossing when he discovered two did not have ORV stickers. CO Killingbeck asked the operators why they had not gotten new stickers and the subjects said that it was the first time out this year, advising it was a last minute decision to go riding so they just hoped they wouldn't get caught. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Josiah Killingbeck was patrolling for ORV violations in Lake County when he observed a dirt bike riding on a state highway. CO Killingbeck stopped the ORV and the operator admitted to knowing it was illegal to drive on that road. The operator also admitted that he had never transferred the title of the ORV and had owned it for over a year. Enforcement action was taken. CO Sam Koscinski and CO Steve Converse participated in the 7th Annual Tight Lines for Troops Charity Event. Tight Lines for Troops brings together charter boats from up and down the Lake Michigan shoreline to give veterans a chance to fish the big lake, giving something back to the people that served our country. More than three dozen charter boats and their crew participated in Tight Lines for Troops this year, hosting more than 200 veterans.

CO Sam Koscinski and CO Steve Converse were checking anglers on Portage Lake when they came across two men fishing off the pier. The COs checked for licenses and found that the two were relatives, a grandfather and a grandson. The grandfather had his license, but explained that he felt his college-aged grandson shouldn't have to buy a license as he only fishes occasionally. He wasn't going to spend $90 dollars to purchase him a license. The COs advised that the licenses are significantly less than that, and also advised that he had the option to purchase a daily license as well. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Kyle Publiski finally caught up with an angler who he had suspected to be fishing with over lines for years on Hamlin Lake. CO Publiski was able to get into a position where he observed the angler fishing with five lines total. As the CO approached, the angler began feverishly reeling in the extra lines. The angler initially began denying he had done anything illegal, but was then convinced after CO Publiski advised him he had watched him for quite some time. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Kyle Publiski was checking Tallman Lake in Mason County when he observed an angler who was fishing from shore. When CO Publiski approached, the angler quickly dropped the pole. Initially the angler denied he was fishing and became belligerent. The angler's wife then got involved and told her husband to tell the CO the truth. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Kyle Publiski was checking vessels on Hamlin Lake when he noticed a vessel he wrote a citation to for not having a registration last year again operating without anything displayed. CO Publiski stopped the 24 foot pontoon and this time the owner also had eight passengers onboard with only three PFDs onboard. When CO Publiski asked the owner why he was operating without registration again, the owner said he "didn't use the boat enough to pay for a registration." Enforcement action was taken.

CO Kyle Publiski stopped a vessel on Bass Lake that didn't have a current registration displayed. The anglers in the boat were from Illinois and hadn't gotten the registration renewed. The anglers were also fishing without Michigan fishing licenses and did not have personal flotation devices onboard. Enforcement action was taken.

CO Brian Brosky spent several days assisting with fish identification school at the DNR Recruit School.

CO Brian Brosky was working in the Fountain area when he and CO Kyle Publiski noticed a large plume of smoke from an open burn. The COs checked for a burn permit and discovered that none were being issued for the day. As they approach the residence, they saw a large stack of railroad ties on fire next to the burn site where sparks had obviously spread and ignited the ties. The owner was sitting inside his residence watching television and had no idea the other pile had lit. When the COs knocked at the door, the owner seemed agitated that they were there and asked what the "big deal" was about his fire. The COs pointed out that his fire had spread. The man panicked, running around in an unsuccessful attempt to locate a hose or a shovel. The COs called for fire personnel and then explained to the owner what the "big deal" was about, including an education on fire safety. Enforcement action was taken.

Sgt. Mike Bomay and CO Troy Mueller of Osceola County were patrolling an area of state land that has been a target of illegal tree cutting. CO Mueller was able to locate two individuals that were cutting without a permit. The subjects had a full truck of wood and working on filling a trailer when the COs made contact. A citation was issued for cutting without a permit.

CO Mike Wells of Newaygo County responded to a complaint of an immature owl that had fallen out of a tree. During this contact, a juvenile at the location informed CO Wells that he has been observing a subject bow fishing on an Oceana County trout stream several times in the past month. This juvenile knew that this was illegal and told the subject that. The subject responded to the juvenile that he did not care. Several days later CO Wells was on patrol when the same juvenile contacted him by phone. The juvenile advised that the subject was back and was currently using a bow and arrow to take fish on the trout stream. CO Wells responded to the location and observed the subject standing in the stream with bow in hand. The subject was contacted and explained that he did not know that this type of activity was illegal on a trout stream and that he was only taking suckers of which he had four in a bucket. Citation was issued to the subject for the possession of the bow and arrow on the trout stream.

CO Mike Wells of Newaygo County was on patrol when he received a complaint of two subjects that had trespassed and had shot at a turkey. This information was received from a Newaygo County Deputy whom had begun the investigation of the complaint prior to CO Wells starting his shift. Information was received by CO Wells regarding the names of the two suspects. Both CO Wells and the NCS D Deputy recognized the names due to a similar contact with both subjects last year during turkey season.
