The New Law

The Michigan legislature passed new laws in 2006 that encourage forestland owners to develop forest management plans and actively manage their property.

This new program comes with tax incentives. Owners who participate will be exempt from non-homestead property taxes (18 mills) as long as they remain in the program.

Is This For Me?

If you own a vacant woodland parcel that is 20 acres or larger and are currently paying non-homestead property tax on that parcel, this program may be for you.

The Workshop

During the workshop, learn about woodland stewardship planning and get answers to these questions:

- Is the Qualified Forest Property Program right for me?
- Am I eligible?
- What are the tax incentives?
- How do I apply?
- What are the requirements if I sign up?
- What is a forest management plan?
- How do I get help with a management plan?
