

Iron Belle

CHALLENGE

3

Scouts,
last year you hiked over 12,000 miles in one day.

What will you do this year?

Put on your hiking boots and grab your water bottles and join the Department of Natural Resources in the third Iron Belle Challenge.

June 3, 2017

The Michigan Iron Belle Trail crosses some of the most scenic areas in Michigan, from Ironwood on the west end of the Upper Peninsula to Belle Isle Park in Detroit - a distance of more than 1,250 miles! The trail uses a portion of the well-known North Country Trail and lesser-known hidden beauties. Join us and earn the 2017 Challenge patch.

September 23, 2017

Then, on September 23, 2017, take the next step and participate in National Public Lands Day, with a stewardship project and earn a second patch that complements the hiking patch.

Contact Ray Rustem at rustemr@michigan.gov for more information.

Visit the interactive map at: www.michigan.gov/ironbelle