

Living Legacies: Managing Michigan's Diverse Natural Places Participants & Partners

Through the years, many governments, organizations and individuals have helped to shape this initiative: through formal comment, informal feedback, criticism and advice; through suggestions of areas to consider; and through many hours evaluating potential places. We would like to take a moment to thank you for the time and other resources you have shared as a participant and partner in this initiative.

Please note that this is a list of governments and organizations that have participated in this initiative, but does not indicate an endorsement of this initiative or any product that results from the initiative.
