VICTORY GARDENS

During the war, much of the produce from our farmers was used to feed our soldiers, so Victory Gardens were created. Victory Gardens were small gardens where people grew their own fruits and vegetables to help out the farmers, and to make sure more food was available to feed the troops. The government and seed growers worked with people to be sure everyone had what they needed.

Match the pictures below with the name of the vegetable or fruit.

- CARROTS
- ONIONS
- TOMATOES
- LETTUCE
- CORN
- POTATOES
UP AND AWAY!

The B-24 Liberator Bomber was one of our greatest weapons during the war. It was used to fly deep into enemy territory and destroy enemy factories and bases. One of the largest American factories in World War II was Ford Motor Company’s Willow Run Bomber Plant, located in Willow Run, Michigan. This factory made the B-24 Liberator, and the workers there were so good that they could make a new bomber in just over an hour!

There are many jobs on a B-24. Write the letter of each crew member job at its location on the plane.

A. PILOT
B. BALL TURRET GUNNER
C&D. WAIST GUNNER (1 ON EACH SIDE)
E. TOP TURRET GUNNER
F. NOSE GUNNER
G. CO-PILOT
H. TAIL GUNNER
I. NAVIGATOR
J. BOMBARDIER

How many jobs were there on a B-24 Liberator?
B-24 NOSE ART

Nose art was a form of artistic expression on the nose section of aircraft in World War II. The artwork was used as an easy way to identify other planes (friendly or unfriendly) and to express the individuality of the bomber crew. Below are some examples of nose art on World War II planes.

If you flew a B-24 Liberator, what would you put on the nose of your plane? Design your own original nose art!
IN SHORT SUPPLY

During the war, food and other things were rationed – which meant that each family was given a limited supply to make sure that everybody had enough. Below is a ration book from World War II. Older investigators, look for items in the gallery that were rationed in World War II and list them below.

V IS FOR VICTORY

During World War II, we used a special type of mail called V-Mail, or Victory Mail, that allowed people – especially children – to send letters directly to friends and relatives who were serving overseas.

A V-Mail letter was a preprinted sheet that could be written on and folded to make its own envelope. This picture shows the cover of a V-Mail stationery packet.

Children also helped their families assemble and send packages with family pictures, cookies, razors, socks and other things soldiers needed.

You can write your own V-Mail!

Use the V-Mail form located next to the V-Mail box in the gallery to tell us what you think is the most interesting part of the exhibit. What did you learn? Fold the letter and place it in the V-Mail box. Be sure to include your name, address and/or school. You might get a response!
RECYCLING WORKS

As it is today, recycling was important during the war. Back then people called it “collecting salvage.” Materials were collected to be made into things that our soldiers could use. This was an easy way for everyone to contribute. Children helped by running scrap drives in their community. Some of the things they collected for recycling included:

- Paper
- Aluminum
- Steel
- Food Scraps
- Tin Cans
- Rubber
- Copper
- Iron

Circle the items above that people still recycle today. Can you list some other items that we recycle?

Answers to Crossword Puzzle on page 1

Down: 1. victory, 3. Willow Run, 4. Pearl Harbor, 8. JEEP

RACE TO RECYCLE!

These children are trying to do their part to get to the salvage center and drop off all the scrap they’ve collected. Help them get there and help us win the war!
