That it doesn't matter what race or ethnicity you are.. once we realize we are working together for our country or state we are all equal and the same. I learned that I now appreciate my state more and I am learning to live with the many other cultures and traditions that are coming up in Michigan. I am really grateful for the opportunity to be working on this project because it lets me express how I feel about my state.

While working on this ~~projects~~ project, I learned that there are many different traditions in Michigan. I learned that carving a badger out of clay was more difficult than I previously anticipated. I learned about all the nature in the northern part of Michigan. I also learned about all the different kinds of music that originated in Detroit. In conclusion, this was a good project and I gained plenty of knowledge from it.
