“The best use of life is to invest in something which will outlast life.” -William James

The Michigan History Foundation fosters private and public appreciation and financial support of the Michigan Historical Center's statewide museum, archival, archaeological, historic preservation, publication and heritage education programs. The Michigan Historical Center houses hundreds of thousands of objects in its collections spanning from the early days of life in Michigan until the present. Your donation to the Michigan History Foundation will help to provide care to objects in need and preserve our state's history.
