

MIOSHA Temporary Worker Initiative Symposium

Wednesday, June 8, 2016 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. – Cost: Free

The use of temporary workers in the United States has grown tremendously. Workers that are identified as temporary accounted for about 1.2 million people in February 2005 - a number that more than doubled in 2013. There is a growing body of research showing that temporary workers are at greater risk of workplace injury and illness than permanent employees. MIOSHA is looking to increase awareness of safety and health concerns and issues in the temporary worker industry. This symposium is designed to provide an understanding of the staffing agency and the host employer's shared responsibilities for providing a safe work environment for temporary workers.

Training Agenda

- ▶ Identify which employers have the responsibility for protecting temporary workers.
- ▶ Review temporary worker injury & illness case studies.
- ▶ Provide recommendations for the staffing agency and host employer in developing a shared employment structure.
- ▶ Discuss the MIOSHA multi-employer work instruction.
