INTRODUCTION

The Michigan Community Service Commission is pleased to present you with the 2007-08 Michigan’s Disaster Preparedness Guidebook. This guidebook offers a comprehensive list of local contacts and training opportunities related to disaster preparedness and response. We hope that programs and members will use the resources in this guidebook to strengthen the capacity of AmeriCorps programs to prepare for and respond to disasters. This will be accomplished through training and partnerships with the American Red Cross, local Citizen Corps Councils, and other agencies and organizations.

One of the great advantages of National Service is that members can play a critical role in mobilizing volunteers and resources for recovery and rebuilding efforts after a disaster occurs. The experience and involvement since Hurricane Katrina leaves National Service poised to strengthen the nation’s disaster response and recovery mechanisms, to build stronger communities, and to nurture and leverage the culture of service and civic participation that continues to grow and prosper in America.

By establishing and strengthening partnerships among Michigan’s AmeriCorps programs and local and state agencies, like the American Red Cross and local Citizen Corps Councils, we hope that disaster preparedness and response will become a permanent component of member development.
The 2007-08 Michigan’s Disaster Preparedness Guide was printed in November 2007.

Each year, the American Red Cross responds immediately to more than 70,000 disasters, including house or apartment fires (the majority of disaster responses), hurricanes, floods, earthquakes, tornadoes, hazardous materials spills, transportation accidents, explosions, and other natural and man made disasters.

The Good New is that We Can Help
Although the American Red Cross is not a government agency, its authority to provide disaster relief was formalized when, in 1905, the Red Cross was chartered by Congress to “carry on the system of national and international relief in time of peace and apply the same in mitigating the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods, and other great national calamities, and to devise and carry on measures for preventing the same.” The Charter is not only a grant of powers, but also an imposition of duties and obligations to the nation, to disaster victims, and to the people who generously support its work with their donations.

Red Cross disaster relief focuses on meting people’s immediate emergency disaster-caused needs. When a disaster threatens or strikes, the Red Cross provides shelter, food, and health and mental health services to address basic human needs. In addition to these services, the core of Red Cross disaster relief is the assistance given to individuals and families affected by disaster to enable them to resume their normal daily activities independently.

The Red Cross also feeds emergency workers, handles inquiries from concerned family members outside the disaster area, provides blood and blood products to victims, and helps those affected by disaster to access other available resources.

The mission of Citizen Corps is to harness the power of every individual through education, training, and volunteer service to make communities safer, stronger, and better prepared to respond to the threats of terrorism, crime, public health issues, and disasters of all kinds.

The Citizen Corps mission is accomplished through a national network of state, local, and tribal Citizen Corps Councils. These Councils build on community strengths to implement the Citizen Corps programs and will carry out a local strategy to have every American participate.

Everyone can do something to help make our families and our communities safer through:

Personal responsibility: Developing a household preparedness plan and disaster supplies kits, observing home health and safety practices, implementing disaster mitigation measures, and participating in crime prevention and reporting.

Training: Taking classes in emergency preparedness, response capabilities, first aid, CPR, fire suppression, and search and rescue procedures.

Volunteer service: Engaging individuals in volunteer activities that support first responders, disaster relief groups, and community safety organizations. Everyone can do something do support local law enforcement, fire, emergency medical services, community public health efforts, and the four stages of emergency management: prevention, mitigation, response, and recovery efforts.

Local Citizen Corps Councils will:

- Promote and strengthen the Citizen Corps programs at the community level, such as Volunteers in Police Service programs, CERT teams, Medical Reserve Corps units, and Neighborhood Watch Groups;
- Provide opportunities for special skills and interests;
- Develop targeted outreach for the community, including special needs groups;
- Provide opportunities of training in first aid and emergency preparedness;
- Organize special projects and community events;
- Encourage cooperation and collaboration among community leaders; and
- Capture smart practices and report accomplishments; and
- Create opportunities for all residents to participate.

The Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) Program educates people about disaster preparedness and trains them in basic disaster response skills, such as fire safety, light search and rescue, and disaster medical operations. Using their training, CERT members can assist others in their neighborhood or workplace following an event and can take a more active role in preparing their community.

CERT is about readiness, people helping people, rescuer safety, and doing the greatest good for the greatest number. CERT is a positive and realistic approach to emergency and disaster situations where citizens will be initially on their own and their actions can make a different. Through training, citizens can manage utilities and put out small fires; treat the three killers by opening airways, controlling bleeding, and treating for shock; provide basic medical aid; search for and rescue victims safely; and organize themselves and spontaneous volunteers to be effective.

Initially, CERT programs were developed to assist communities in taking care of themselves in the aftermath of a major disaster when first responders are overwhelmed or unable to respond because of communication or transportation difficulties. As the CERT concept has taken hold across the county, however, CERTs have become much more than originally envisioned. CERTs have proven themselves to be an active and vital part of their communities’ preparedness and response capability. For example, CERTs have been used to:

- Distribute and/or install smoke alarms and batteries to the elderly and disabled.
- Assist with evacuations and traffic control.
- Promote community awareness of potential hazards and preparedness measures.
- Supplement staffing at special events, such as parades.
- Act as victims in training exercises.

CERTs are an investment of local government’s time and resources. To capitalize on this investment, program sponsors can view CERT members as a volunteer resource that can assist with public safety activities. Such an approach will actively involve members in serving their communities beyond disaster response and add value to the CERT program.

We all have a role in hometown security, and Fire Corps provides opportunities to embrace personal responsibility to be prepared, and at the same time give back to your community by volunteering to support your local fire and emergency departments.

Since September 11th, that need for preparedness has never been greater. With the increasing threat of terrorism, but also by the changing demands of communities themselves, it has become increasingly difficult for many departments to provide additional services the community expects while upholding various responsibilities already instated in the department.

By volunteering in a Fire Corps program, citizens can perform non-emergency tasks, allowing first responders to focus on necessary training and critical emergency response situation. Fire Corps also creates a connection between Fire/EMS departments and the community, providing a vehicle for citizens to find out which departments in their area need help and offering resources for departments to use to alleviate overburden tasks through the Fire Corps program.

There are many necessary tasks that can be performed by citizens in the fire and emergency services every day. The list is endless, bound only by your imagination. So check out which departments in your community utilizes Fire Corps, and become part of the Fire Corps team today!

USAonWatch through Neighborhood Watch empowers citizens in our communities with the opportunity to volunteer to work toward the safety of our homeland.

USAonWatch (UOW) – Neighborhood Watch works to provide information, training and resources to citizens and law enforcement agencies throughout the country. In the aftermath of September 11, 2001, Neighborhood Watch programs have expanded beyond their traditional crime prevention role to help neighborhoods focus on disaster preparedness, emergency response and terrorism awareness. USAonWatch-Neighborhood Watch is administered by the National Sheriff’s Association in partnership with the Bureau of Justice Assistance, U.S. Department of Justice.

Since its beginnings, Neighborhood Watch has grown from an “extra eyes and ears” approach to crime prevention to a much more proactive, community-oriented endeavor providing a unique infrastructure that brings together local officials, law enforcement, and citizens for the protection of their communities. Today’s Neighborhood Watch programs incorporate activities that not only address crime prevention issues, but also restore pride and unity to a neighborhood. It is not uncommon to see members of Neighborhood Watch groups participating in community cleanups and other activities that strive to improve the quality of life for community residents.

There are 525 Neighborhood Watch programs in Michigan. Each has the same description of an expanded Neighborhood Watch Program (NWP) incorporated terrorism awareness education into its existing crime prevention mission, while also serving as a way to bring residents together to focus on emergency preparedness and emergency response training. All of the 525 Neighborhood programs in Michigan are listed in this directory under the county they serve.

All information was provided by and can be found at www.usaonwatch.org

The mission of the Medical Reserve Corps (MRC) is to improve the health and safety of communities across the country by organizing and utilizing public health, medical and other volunteers.

The Medical Reserve Corps (MRC) Program strengthens communities by helping medical, public health and other volunteers offer their expertise throughout the year as well as during local emergencies and other times of community need. MRC volunteers work in coordination with existing local emergency response programs and also supplement existing community public health initiatives, such as outreach and prevention, immunization programs, blood drives, case management, care planning, and other efforts. The MRC program is administered by HHS.

MRC volunteers can choose to support communities in need nationwide. When the southeast was battered by hurricanes in 2004, MRC volunteers in the affected areas and beyond helping communities by filling in at local hospitals, assisting their neighbors at local shelters, and providing first aid to those injured by the storms. During this 2-month period, more than 30 MRC units worked as part of the relief efforts, including those whose volunteers were called in form across the country to assist the American Red Cross (ARC) and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

During the 2005 Hurricane Season, MRC members provided support to ARC health services, mental health and shelter operations. MRC members also supported the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) response and recovery efforts by staffing special needs shelters, Community Health Centers and health clinics, and assisting health assessment teams in the Gulf Coast region. More then 1,500 MRC members were willing to deploy outside their local jurisdiction on optional missions to the disaster-affected areas with their state agencies, the ARC, and HHS. Of these, almost 200 volunteers for 25 MRC units were activated by HHS, and more than 400 volunteers from more than 80 local MRC unites were activated to support ARC disaster operations in the Gulf Coast areas.

Ready Instructional Videos
The US Department of Homeland Security’s Redy Campaign has released three new demonstration videos designed to highlight the specific steps older Americans, individuals with disabilities and special needs, and pet owners should take to prepare for emergencies. http://www.ready.gov/america/about/instructional_index.html

New Institute on Community Integration Disaster Preparedness Publication

When disasters occur, people with disabilities are often amoung those most in harm’s way. In many cases this is because the planning and resources in place to respond to disasters and emergencies haven’t made adequate provision for people with disabilities.

The new publication, “Impact: Feature Issue on Disaster Preparedness and People with Disabilities” http://ici.umn.edu/products/impact/201/default.html from the Institute on Community Integration seeks to address the need for greater inclusion of people with disabilities in disaster preparedness, response, and recovery efforts. By providing strategies, stories and resources of use to disability service providers, advocates, individuals with disabilities, families, policymakers, and interested others the publication seeks to give readers information they can use to help ensure that when the next disaster or emergency occurs, no one is left behind.

In additional to the online publication, print copies of this Impact are available by contacting the Publications Office at 612-624-4512 or icipub@umn.edu. The first print copy is free. To order additional copies at $4.00/each, please complete and mail in the order form at http://ici.umn.edu/products/order.html.
