Collaborative Resources

Unit Development:

● Process Phase I (2010-2011)

- Gap analysis was conducted to identify the largest gaps between existing Grade Level Content Expectations/High School Content Expectations and the new Career and College Readiness Standards.
- Identified units were developed by contracted writers (content specialists with strong curriculum backgrounds).
- Phase I Units were reviewed by content consultants and piloted in classrooms.
- Finalized units were rolled out to all ISDs in August of 2011, posted on the MAISA web site, and made available to LEAs through their ISDs.

● Process Phase II (2011-2012)

- Unit topics for development were identified
- Math and ELA Leadership Teams of ISD consultants were formed to provide input and oversight of unit development.
- Draft units are being reviewed and piloted by ISDs across the state providing feedback to the writers and leadership teams.
- These units will be available for public access Fall of 2012.

● Process Phase II (2012-2013)

- Final 3 units will be developed through the same process and available Fall, 2013.
