I retired in June, 2009, after 33 wonderful years of service in Detroit Public Schools. As a veteran educator, I have had a wide range of experiences in teaching, grant writing, various school improvement initiatives and extensive training in parental involvement. My professional accomplishments include but are not limited to the following:

- Title I Teacher
- Special and Regular Education Teacher (Elementary, Middle School, High School)
- Alternative Education Teacher (Middle School, High School)
- Teacher Consultant for Michigan Geographic Alliance
- Adjunct Faculty at Eastern Michigan University
- Chairperson School Improvement Team
- District Testing Coordinator
- Data Analysis Specialist
- Coordinated School wide Professional Development
- Trainer for Instrumental Enrichment Achievement Initiative
- Facilitated Best Practices such as the Baldrige School Improvement Process and Dr. Joyce L. Epstein's Parental Involvement Program
- National Faculty at Yale University (Comer Schools Initiative Process Observer)
- Facilitator for the Comer Schools and Families Initiative School Development Program, a collaborative school reform model designed to raise pupil academic achievement, foster parental involvement and community partnerships

My training and successful career in education gives me the skills and knowledge to assist school staff in writing and implementing a comprehensive Title 1 Schoolwide Plan. I received my Bachelor of Science and Masters of Arts Degrees in Special Education and Education Specialist Certificate in Administration from Wayne State University.
