Certified Payrolls

This construction advisory serves as a reminder that federal funded contracts require weekly certified payrolls, except for the following instances:

- contracts of $2000 or less
- local force account projects
- projects located off the federal-aid highway system

Furthermore, beginning with the August 4, 2006, letting, state funded projects of $10,000 or more and employing three or more people require certified payrolls. This is in accordance with BOH IM 2006-06, Certified Payrolls, Wage Rates, and Employment Reporting on State and Federally Funded Projects.

Contracts where prevailing wages apply contain a Notice to Bidders, which states in part, “All payrolls submitted shall identify minority and female employees…” The project engineer should return payrolls submitted without this information to the contractor for correction.

Certified payrolls are required to be submitted to the project engineer weekly for contract work performed during the preceding weekly payroll period.

This is also required on projects where state prevailing wages apply.

Biweekly progress payments for work completed by the prime contractor and/or subcontractor may be withheld, upon written notice from the engineer, for failure to comply with the contract prevailing wage requirements (Davis-Bacon and/or Michigan Prevailing Wage Rate Schedule), and for failure to submit weekly certified payrolls.

Project personnel are reminded that each Construction Pay Estimate Report contains an Estimate Certification, which states, “I also certify that the prime contractor is meeting all requirements for minority percentages and the payrolls are current.”
