Q&A #2

5/21/14

- Q1. Does the introduction letter (3.1) count towards the 14 page maximum page limit?
- A1. Section 5.2 a. lists the items that are not counted toward the page limit. The introduction letter is not excluded therefore it counts toward the 14 page limit.
- Q2. Regarding the 5100D Form, in the “Subconsultant Information” Section, does each Major Participant have to be listed as a subconsultant? Is the subconsultant simply the lead design firm? Can you verify who needs to complete the Conflict of Interest section of this form?
- A2. The SOQ must provide the team members which include the prime contractor, known major participants and the engineering firm(s) that satisfy the design prequalification categories listed in 2.4. The Conflict of interest section on Page 2 of the 5100 D form is the only section that must be completed. The Prime Contractor is the firm that must complete the Conflict of interest section of the form certifying they and their team do not have any potential conflicts of interest on the project, or to disclose potential conflicts of interest exist with the prime contractor or a member of their team.
