

TRUCK DRIVER EDUCATION PROGRAMS

Michigan law requires all driver education providers, including providers of truck driver education programs, be certified by the Secretary of State. A student enrolling in a truck driver education program must possess a valid Michigan operator or chauffeur license and obtain a commercial driver license (CDL) temporary instruction permit (TIP) to be eligible to receive behind-the-wheel instruction, and the CDL TIP is only available to persons 18 years of age or older. In addition, an acceptable driving record, as well as a favorable medical examination report, is required of commercial drivers. Vision, knowledge, and skills tests are required prior to issuance of a commercial driver license and endorsements.
