Foster Parents Homes Report

Foster Home Closures:

In FY 2016, 2,177 foster homes closed. Thirty-one percent of the foster homes that closed were relative homes and 69 percent were non-relative foster homes. In FY 2015, 2,260 foster homes closed. Twenty-eight percent of the foster homes that closed were relative homes and 72 percent were non-relative foster homes.

The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) remains committed to ensuring a sufficient and adequate array of foster homes for children entering foster care. There was a decrease in the number of licensed foster homes that closed between fiscal year 2016 and fiscal year 2015.

Reasons Foster Parents Left the Program: Foster Home Closure Surveys:

To assist MDHHS in recruiting and retaining foster homes, each month the Office of Child Welfare Policy and Programs sends surveys to MDHHS and private agency foster care (PAFC) foster parents whose foster care home closed during the previous month.¹ The survey inquiry includes the length of time as a foster parent, reasons for becoming a foster parent, issues and concerns associated with being a foster parent, and the reasons for not continuing as a foster parent. There was a 44 percent response rate to the FY 2016 closed foster care home survey. The following are fiscal year 2016 survey results:

- The top reasons foster parents closed their license:
 - Adopted the child(ren) placed with them
 - Demand/stress of being a foster parent
 - Need to focus on family needs
- The top three challenges of being a foster parent:
 - Child(ren)'s behavior
 - Visitation
 - Court Process
- The top three reasons for becoming a foster parent:
 - Wanted to help children
 - Wanted to make a difference
 - Love children

Foster Home Retention:

On October 1, 2015, there were 6,427 licensed foster homes. On September 30, 2016, 4,367 of those licensed foster parents remained licensed, which is a 68 percent retention rate and a 1 percent retention rate decrease from fiscal year 2015. At the beginning of FY 2015, there were 6,811 licensed foster homes. On September 30, 2015, 4,689 of those licensed foster parents remained licensed, which is a 69 percent retention rate.

In addition to a 68 percent retention rate for fiscal year 2016, 93 percent of the 1,725 foster homes licensed during FY 2016 remained licensed as of September 30, 2016. This percentage is slightly higher than the percentage reported in FY 2016 when 92 percent of the 1,763 foster homes licensed during FY 2015 remained licensed as of September 30, 2015.

1 Foster home closures are defined as parents that dropped out of the program due to the following reasons: adoption; death; lack of response to license renewal; voluntary withdrawal and administrative closure.
