MILITARY & VETERANS LEGAL SERVICES GUIDE

Attorney General Dana Nessel

We are grateful for the effort and sacrifices that veterans, military personnel, and their families have made to serve our country and Michigan.

Whether you are a long-time veteran, a recently activated member of the National Guard or Reserves, active duty military personnel, or a newly returned servicemember, I am committed to ensuring that you and your family receive the benefits and protections you have earned.

Federal and state laws protect the rights of veterans and servicemembers against discrimination in employment, help avoid credit or foreclosure problems, and maximize healthcare, disability, and education benefits.

In addition, many veterans face physical and psychological challenges that will extend well beyond their military service. Others have paid the ultimate price. In this case, veterans and their families continue to serve our country long after a tour of duty is over and deserve appropriate legal protections.

The Michigan Military and Veterans' Legal Services Guide provides information on numerous legal programs available for veterans and active duty military personnel.

This guide is the product of diligent work by Assistant Attorneys General from my office and staff from the Veterans Law Clinic of the University of Detroit Mercy School of Law.

I thank everyone involved in this project. You have done an important service for veterans, military personnel and their families confronting legal issues.

Sincerely,

Dana Nessel
Attorney General

DETROIT

LAW

The Military and Veterans' Legal Services Guide, a combined effort of the Michigan Department of Attorney General and the Veterans Law Clinic of the University of Detroit Mercy School of Law, is designed to provide Michigan military personnel and veterans, and those who assist them, with a directory of resources to address legal and legal-related issues.

The Guide contains resources specific to the needs of veterans, including obtaining VA benefits, as well as resources to assist veterans in addressing other legal problems that may not be related to their status as veterans.

This Guide augments the State Bar of Michigan's Pro Bono Manual, which contains legal resources for veterans, and can be found on their website (michbar.org/programs/probonomanual).

As with any resource guide, there likely will be some omissions. It is hoped that the Guide will undergo regular updating in its electronic form, so that it will provide military personnel and veterans, and those who assist them, with a current and useful tool. To access this guide, visit the Attorney General's website and click 'Military'.

If you know of a resource omitted from the Guide, or find one listed in the Guide that is incorrect or needs to be updated, please email the Attorney General's office (agcod@mi.gov), ATTN: Military and Veterans' Guide.

Veterans' Charities

Before donating to a veterans' charity or applying for services from a veterans' charity, it is important first to verify the legitimacy of the charity.

Some so-called veterans' charities are outright scams that prey on the public's generosity and provide no real services; other veterans' charities may perform some nominal charitable benefit, but largely serve their own interests.

For more information, visit the Attorney General's charities website (michigan.gov/agcharity).

Search the Attorney General's online charities database (mi.gov/agcharitysearch).

To inquire about a particular organization or to make a complaint, email the Charitable Trust Section (ct_email@mi.gov).

Pension Benefit Applications & Investment Advice

Older veterans are an attractive target for unscrupulous "advisors" or "veterans' advocates" offering help in applying for additional benefits; usually Aid and Attendance (A & A). These so-called advisors—who may be attorneys, financial planners or insurance agents—try to persuade veterans to transfer assets into a trust or restructure their finances in order to qualify for A & A, which is intended for low-income individuals.

Such "advisors" earn their money by selling annuities or other investment products, or creating a trust. What they may not reveal is that these transactions can cause the veteran to become ineligible for Medicaid services or unable to access funds without incurring high withdrawal fees or other expenses when the annuity or investment product being pitched is unsuitable for seniors.

Applying for veterans' benefits is free—and so are the forms. Learn more about Aid and Attendance or Housebound Benefits on the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Pension website (benefits.va.gov/pension).

If you need help with the application, use someone accredited through the VA. The accreditation means the person is trained to help fill out the papers and file them. It doesn't mean the VA endorses the person's advice or ethics. People with VA accreditation are not allowed to charge for help unless they are attorneys, and only after the veteran's initial claim has been denied and a Notice of Disagreement has been filed. To verify if an advisor is VA accredited, or to search for an accredited advisor by city or state, visit the VA Accreditation Website (va.gov/ogc/accreditation.asp).

Accredited counselors and other assistance are also available through county VA offices.

Active servicemembers are a target of high-interest lenders, despite the federal Military Lending Act enacted to prevent predatory lenders from gouging military personnel.

Information on lending protections and options for service members is available from the federal Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (consumerfinance.gov/servicemembers).

Veterans' Treatment Courts

Veterans' Treatment Court uses a hybrid integration of drug court and mental health court principles to serve military veterans, and sometimes active-duty personnel. Veterans' Treatment Courts promote sobriety, recovery, and stability through a coordinated response that involves cooperation and collaboration with community and state-wide partners.
