Accounting and Recordkeeping Best Practices

These accounting and recordkeeping best practices are being provided to licensees to address recommendations from previous Annual Financial Statement (AFS) workgroups. Following these best practices will aid the licensee and certified public accountant (CPA) when preparing the AFS.

Accounting System

- Consult a Licensed CPA: Consult a licensed CPA to assist in creating an accounting system to accurately document business revenue and expenses and ensure that the accounting system is applied consistently. Evaluate the advantages and disadvantages of various accounting systems, considering factors like functionality, scalability, efficiency, and cost.
- Research and Select Accounting Software: Choose and maintain accounting software that complements your accounting system. Accounting programs are generally easier to maintain and more user-friendly than Word documents or Excel files. Some software offers better tracking capabilities, links to original documents, and provides better points of reference.

Recordkeeping – Internal Records

- Maintain Detailed Records: Keep comprehensive records of all business revenue and expenses to ensure accurate monitoring of your business throughout the year.
- AFS Report Requirement: An AFS report is required for each legal entity that holds a marijuana license. Legal entities that hold multiple licenses but share a centralized corporate management function should clearly allocate expenses to each licensee. It is very important that legal entities keep separate business transactions, both in sales and disbursements.
- Cash Log: Maintain a cash log to record all incoming and outgoing cash.

The purpose of this bulletin is to provide guidance for licensees. It does not constitute legal or accounting advice and is subject to change. Licensees are encouraged to seek legal counsel or counsel from a certified public accountant to ensure their financial operations comply with the Medical Marijuana Facilities Licensing Act, the Michigan Regulation and Taxation of Marijuana Act, and the associated administrative rules.

- Source Documents: Organize and retain all business source documents (e.g., receipts, invoices, purchase orders) for at least seven years, per federal tax guidelines.
- Consistent Vendor and Customer Identification: Always identify vendors and customers consistently in your records.
- Licensee Identification: Use the official business name of each licensee in your records to avoid confusion.
- Maintain Agreements: Identify any agreements with other licensees, landlords, brands, management companies, and others, and retain physical copies of these agreements to ensure payments are made and terms are upheld (e.g., real property agreements, tolling agreements, licensing agreements, financing agreements, management agreements, etc.).
 - Tolling Transfers: Tolling transfers are available for use in Metrc. Licensees can upload tolling agreements and attach them to transfers when the transfer type is “tolling”. More details are available in the Metrc Support Bulletin.
- Maintain Required Documents: Maintain updated versions of required documents. Examples include lease agreements and ownership documents. Note that changes to some documents must be provided to the CRA and receive approval prior to taking effect.
 - See Reporting Form - License Maintenance and Reporting Form Instructions - CRA License Maintenance for more information on how to update records.

Recordkeeping (Electronic Records)

- Backup Files: Back up your files electronically whenever possible.
- Scan and Store Documents: Scan all original documents - such as receipts and invoices - and store them in a separate, secure location as a backup.

Personal Items

- Avoid Mixing Personal and Business Transactions: Do not combine personal and business expenses (e.g., using business funds for personal expenses or personal funds for business purchases).

The purpose of this bulletin is to provide guidance for licensees. It does not constitute legal or accounting advice and is subject to change. Licensees are encouraged to seek legal counsel or counsel from a certified public accountant to ensure their financial operations comply with the Medical Marijuana Facilities Licensing Act, the Michigan Regulation and Taxation of Marijuana Act, and the associated administrative rules.

Metrc and Internal Licensee Records

- Consistency Between Metrc and General Ledger: Ensure that transactions in Metrc align with the entries in the general ledger.
- Price Documentation: If the price of a product is unknown at the time of transfer, maintain documentation (e.g., agreements, invoices) to help reconcile general ledger revenue with Metrc revenue in your AFS. An Invoice Number field is available when creating the Metrc transfer. Invoice information (if known at the time of the Metrc transfer) can be added to aid in reconciliations.
- Monthly Reconciliation: Perform monthly reconciliations of Metrc sales with the general ledger and point-of-sale system (if applicable). Be sure to document the reasons for any discrepancies.
- Manifests and License Numbers: Ensure that manifests reflect the correct license numbers for all parties involved in the transfer.
- Invoicing for Reconciliation: Use invoicing that references manifests, tags, or other identifying product information to assist with the reconciliation process between Metrc and the general ledger.
