ANNOUNCEMENTS

PUBLIC WEBINAR ON THE PROPOSED DESIGNATION OF HIGH-RISK EROSION AREAS IN KEWEENAW COUNTY. During a Webinar on August 1, 2017, at 2:30 p.m. EDT, the Water Resources Division staff will discuss the findings and implications of a recent erosion study of the Lake Superior shoreline of Keweenaw County. The study may result in regulatory changes affecting specific properties. This Webinar is intended for shoreline property owners and local officials in Keweenaw County. The High-Risk Erosion Area (HREA) program identifies rapidly eroding coastal shorelines and establishes setback requirements for construction in these hazard areas to prevent property loss. The proposed changes in the HREAs are the result of a recession rate study conducted on March 14, 2017, to identify changes in the long-term rate of erosion pursuant to R 281.22 (22) of the Great Lakes Shorelands Administrative Rules promulgated pursuant to Part 323, Shorelands Protection and Management, of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act, 1994 PA 451, as amended (NREPA). The study identified shorelines where recession is occurring at an average rate of at least one foot per year over a minimum of 15 years. A longer study time period was used when technically possible to span a wider range of water levels and shoreline fluctuations. The previous study for Keweenaw County was conducted in 1983. Information about the HREA program and study are online at www.michigan.gov/shorelands. Written comments sent to the Department of Environmental Quality, Water Resources Division, Attn: Kate Lederle, P.O. Box 30458, Lansing MI 48909-7958 or email, lederlek@michigan.gov, will be accepted until 5:00 p.m., September 8, 2017.
