General Description for Conference Registration/Program for Program Guide:

*Please include information about registration and how to learn more than what is provided*
(200 words or less)

Do you own—or hope to own—some woodland, either as a “back 40” on your farm or a small getaway up north? Regardless of how you use your forested land or why you own it, there are many opportunities to make that land a sound, long-term investment. Join us for a full-day workshop to learn about a “toolbox” of resources designed to support landowners who want to enhance forest management and/or pursue emerging markets. Even if you own woodlands for lifestyle or recreational reasons and not for financial gain, tapping new opportunities may be a way for you to maintain your land the way you want it, while securing its future. Registration fee is $35 per person, which includes lunch and materials. Please register by Monday, February 27, 2012 via check payable to Michigan State University Extension. Submit it to Georgia Peterson, MSU Extension, 11 Agriculture Hall, East Lansing, MI 48824. For additional information, contact Georgia Peterson, Forestry Outreach Specialist, 517-335-7383 or petersog@msu.edu.
