

Amy Trotter

Resource Policy Manager for Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) and Manager of MUCC's Michigan OutofDoors University (MOOD U).

At MUCC, Amy works to advance the organization's conservation policy agenda by working with state agencies and legislators, as well as developing educational workshops and information for MUCC members. She currently serves on numerous state-level boards and committees related to forest and habitat management, recreation, and wildlife. Her main areas of policy focus are issues related to hunting and trapping, accessible recreation and ORV's, wildlife disease and nuisance wildlife management; habitat management, protecting Michigan's sportsmen's heritage, private land conservation practices, and land resource-based industries (agriculture, tourism, and forestry).

Prior to joining MUCC in 2007, Amy was a Consultant for Natural Resources at Public Sector Consultants, a non-partisan public policy research firm in Lansing.
