Qualifying Urban Areas for the 2010 Census; Notice

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE*Bureau of the Census

[Docket Number 120308168–2158–01]

Qualifying Urban Areas for the 2010 Census*AGENCY: Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Bureau of the Census (Census Bureau) delineates urban areas after each decennial census for the purpose of tabulating and presenting data for the urban and rural population and housing within the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Island Areas.<sup>1</sup> The Census Bureau delineates urbanized areas<sup>2</sup> and urban clusters<sup>3</sup> primarily on the basis of residential population density measured at the census tract and census block levels of geography, but also based on additional criteria that account for patterns of non-residential development as outlined in the urban area criteria published in the Federal Register on August 24, 2011 (76 FR 53030).<sup>4</sup> This Notice provides the list of urbanized areas and urban clusters that qualified based on results of the 2010 Census of Population and Housing for the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Island Areas, and comprise the urban population, housing, and territory in these areas; “rural” encompasses any population, housing, and territory not included in any urban area. Publication of this Notice constitutes the Census Bureau’s official announcement of the list of qualifying urbanized areas and urban clusters for reference by all interested parties.

DATES: Effective Date: This Notice is effective upon publication.FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Geographic Standards and Criteria Branch, Geography Division, U.S. Census Bureau, via email at geo.gsrb.list@census.gov or telephone at 301–763–3056.SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Census Bureau identifies and tabulates data for the urban and rural populations and their associated areas solely for the presentation and comparison of statistical data. The Census Bureau does not take into account or attempt to anticipate any nonstatistical uses that may be made of these areas or their associated data, nor does it attempt to meet the requirements of such nonstatistical program uses. Nonetheless, the Census Bureau recognizes that some federal and state agencies are required by law to use Census Bureau-defined urban and rural classifications for allocating program funds, setting program standards, and implementing aspects of their programs. The agencies that make such nonstatistical uses of the areas and data should be aware that the changes to the urban and rural criteria for the 2010 Census might affect the implementation of their programs.

If a federal, state, local, tribal agency, or any organization voluntarily uses these urban and rural criteria in a nonstatistical program, it is that agency’s responsibility to ensure that the criteria are appropriate for such use. In considering the appropriateness of such nonstatistical program uses, the Census Bureau urges each agency to consider permitting appropriate modifications of the results of implementing the urban and rural criteria specifically for the purposes of its program. When a program permits such modifications, the Census Bureau urges each agency to use descriptive terminology that clearly identifies the different criteria being applied to avoid confusion with the Census Bureau’s official urban and rural classifications.

Executive Order 12866

This Notice has been determined to be not significant for purposes of Executive Order 12866.

Paperwork Reduction Act

This Notice does not represent a collection of information subject to the requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act, Title 44, U.S.C., Chapter 35.

Urbanized Areas and Urban Clusters

This section of the Notice provides lists of the 2010 Census urbanized areas and urban clusters.

As a result of the 2010 Census, there are 486 urbanized areas in the United States, 11 urbanized areas in Puerto Rico, and no urbanized areas in the Island Areas, for a total of 497 urbanized areas. This total of 497 urbanized areas in 2010 includes 36 new urbanized areas since 2000 and the loss of four areas (three in the United States and one in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands) that changed from urbanized areas in 2000 to urban clusters in 2010, for a net increase of 32 urbanized areas from the 465 defined from the Census 2000 results.

Of the 36 new urbanized areas in 2010, one was created when it no longer connected to a larger urbanized area of which it was a part in 2000, 12 were created from the connection of two or more urban clusters from 2000, and 23 were created from the growth of a single urban cluster from 2000.

As a result of the 2010 Census, a total of 3,104 urban clusters are in the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Island Areas.

A. List of Census 2010 Urbanized Areas in the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Island Areas

An alphabetical list of all qualifying urbanized areas follows. The population counts relate to data reported for the 2010 Census. New urbanized areas are indicated with an asterisk (*) next to the area’s title.

<sup>3</sup> An urban cluster consists of densely settled territory that contains at least 2,500 people, but fewer than 50,000 people.

<sup>4</sup> An urbanized area delineated as a result of a special census conducted by the Census Bureau during this decade (an intercensal urbanized area), at the request and expense of local governments, will be qualified using these criteria and the population counts reported in that special census.
