Dear [Redacted]

Mr. Russ Elkins, with the National Sweepstakes Bureau, asked that I write you informing you of your winning our 2nd place award this year of $450,000. For the first time ever we are paying the state and federal taxes on behalf of our cash award recipients. The entire $450,000 is coming to you free and clear of all taxes.

To properly identify you that we can accurately credit you for the taxes we ask that you post a refundable delivery insurance policy with Lloyds of London Insurance Company. This policy additionally insures the delivery against any theft or loss while in transit to you.

The following business day after the policy is funded, you will receive two checks, one refunding you for the insurance plus costs and more importantly the other for your award. This procedure has been successfully used for 6 years by one other sweepstakes and it is designed for your protection as well as ours.

It is my pleasure to congratulate you at this time and wish you continued good fortune in the future.

Sincerely

Charles S. Cummings
