Conference Meals:
The Conference is pleased to include the following with your registration: Continental Breakfast and Tuesday lunch (if you are registered for a Pre-Conference Program), Wednesday dinner, Thursday lunch, and Friday Breakfast. Continental Breakfast will be served on Wednesday and Thursday mornings. All other meals are on your own.
INTENSIVE INVESTIGATION WORKSHOP

Session Description:
Psychological Narrative Analysis (PNA) is an intuitive system that identifies word choices and grammar structures people choose when they either tell the truth or lie. Both truthful people and liars use the same grammar structures to communicate. PNA techniques identify the differences between the way people tell the truth and lie. PNA also provides non-evasive, non-threatening methods to uncover the truth or to test for the truth, often without the person knowing that their veracity is being tested.

Objectives:
1. Participants will be able to identify the two most common methods people use to lie
2. Participants will be able to identify the methods liars use to lie by obfuscation
3. Participants will be able to identify the methods liars use to lie by omission
4. Participants will be able to identify the five elements of the Poor Person’s Polygraph
5. Participants will be able to identify the components of the Micro-Action Interview

Biography:
Dr. John R. Schafer is a retired FBI Special Agent. He served as behavioral analyst assigned to FBI’s National Security Behavioral Analysis Program. He authored a book titled, “Psychological Narrative Analysis: A Professional Method to Detect Deception in Written and Oral Communications.” He also co-authored a book titled, “Advanced Interviewing Techniques: Proven Strategies for Law Enforcement, Military and Security Personnel.” He has published numerous articles on a wide range of topics including the psychopathology of hate, ethics in law enforcement, detecting deception, and the universal principles of criminal behavior. Dr. Schafer earned his Ph.D. in psychology at Fielding Graduate University, Santa Barbara, California. Dr. Schafer owns his own consulting company and lectures and consults in the United States and abroad. Dr. Schafer currently serves as an assistant professor in the School of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Administration (LEJA) at Western Illinois University in Macomb, Illinois.
Making it Work:
The Blending of State Law, Mental Health Code Chapter 7 and Federal Law, HIPAA (42 and 45CFR)

This program is intended to provide the participants with further understanding of the interplay, distinctions and applications of Michigan Mental Health Code Chapter 7 and Federal Law, HIPAA (42 and 45 CFR). 42 CFR, Part 2 protects clients who have applied for, participated in, or received an intervention, counseling or other services from a federally assisted alcohol or drug abuse program. It protects all information about any person who has applied for or being given a diagnosis or treatment for alcohol or drug abuse at a federally qualified program. Information is subject to the Privacy Rule if it is individually identifiable information created, received or maintained by the covered entity. We will discuss the intricacies of this Part within the context of real life scenarios. For example, there are several exceptions to disclosure, but there are also subtle nuances to the exceptions as well. Furthermore, we will explore the priority of federal law over state law when state law is less restrictive, noting the distinction when states require greater confidentiality than 42 CFR Part 2. In all, we will cover a variety of scenarios commonly faced by substance abuse and mental health service providers within the context of privacy and disclosure.

Objectives:
1. Participants will be able to articulate the provisions and restrictions set forth by Michigan Mental Health Code Chapter 7 and Federal 42 CFR Part 2 and 45CFR Part 160, including preemption of state law and exception when state law provides greater confidentiality than federal law
2. Participants will be able to understand the exceptions to disclosure; mandatory disclosures, permitted disclosures pursuant to state and federal law
3. Participants will be able to respond in problematic situations involving subpoenas, search warrant and arrest warrants, etc.

Biography:
Christine L. Noller, J.D., L.L.M is a health law attorney specializing in health care business transactions and regulation. She has over 25 years of hospital leadership and administrative experience in addition to legal practice. She holds teaching appointments at the University of Michigan-Flint, Saginaw Valley State University, Central Michigan University and Davenport University. Her portfolio of courses include Legal Issues in Health Care, Health Care in the United States, Health Science Applications, Evaluation Process and Accreditation, Legal and Regulatory Perspectives in Health Services, US Health and Human Services Systems, Legal Aspects for Health Service Organizations, Introduction to Health Service Organization Systems, Health Services Administration, Health Law and Ethics, Bioethics, Regulatory Health Care, Risk Management, Health Care Research, Cultural Issues in Health
Session 1: GET TO THE TRUTH
Presenter: Janette Ghedotte, MA LLP CAADC CIRT CHT
A five step process for effective interviewing and detecting deception. Attendees will learn effective interviewing strategies to identify potential deception “Hot Spots” in the interviewee’s words, facial expression, and body language.

1. Control & Baseline
2. Verbal Statement Analysis
3. Facial Expressions
4. Full Body Language
5. Effective Interview Strategies and Questioning

Objectives:
1. Gain strategic control of the interview environment
2. Establish RAPPORT and Determine BASELINE
3. Identify incongruent deceptive “Hot-Spots” in body language and verbal statements
4. Learn interview strategies and questioning

Session 2: AUTISM SAFETY TRAINING FOR EMERGENCY RESPONDERS AND COMMUNITY PARTNERS
Presenters: Lisa Groot, MHSA MDCH; Sgt. Scott Schuelke, Autism Safety Specialist
People with developmental disabilities, including autism, are seven times more likely to be in contact with law enforcement. Increasing recognition skills of emergency responders and service providers is key to having the best outcome in emergency situations. The presenters will provide an overview of on duty situation and the best way to safety and effectively manage it. The session will also include community outreach strategies to increase the safety and support individuals with autism. It will include proactive ideas on how to engage emergency responders, community service partners, and families.

Session 3: Presenting with Confidence
Presenter: Susan Newhof
Everybody gets butterflies! This interactive session will help you work with your most important tools - your body, face and voice – so you can engage your audience, build your confidence, and be an effective trainer. You’ll also explore and practice techniques for answering questions clearly and concisely and for opening and closing presentations using methods that will increase the impact of your message. And you’ll learn tips for managing the jitters!

Session 4: SOOOO…… YOU”RE NEW TO RIGHTS!
This session is designed for those who began working in Recipient Rights within the past 12 months. Staff from rights offices at state, community mental health and hospital settings will share information on the workings of their offices, the rights conference and the Recipient Rights Officers Association of Michigan, (RROAM). Designed to be both fun and informative, this is a time when you can network with other “new” rights staff and hear tips from “experienced” rights staff, with expertise in your area, who will share their perspectives, offer suggestions and answer questions.
Annie’s Ghosts: Evolution and Echoes in Mental Health
STEVE LUXENBERG

A secret comes to light, triggering author Steve Luxenberg to dig deeply into his family’s history. "But identity is the true center of his compelling story -- the identities we sometimes create to hide the past, the identities many patients lost in the large asylums that once dominated the mental health landscape, the identities we pass on to the next generation when secrets endure." Steve will use his personal narrative for a fast-paced look at the history of mental health care, and how that past echoes in today’s system. His talk includes a Q & A at the end. Come ready to ask questions!

Session 5: Identifying and Interviewing Individuals with Complex Communication Needs
Presenter: Lynn Sweeney, CCC-SLP, Speech-Language Pathologist and Augmentative Communication Specialist
Many consumers experience medical, psychological, developmental, or situational conditions that make communication challenging for them, their significant others and those who provide services for them. Understanding the status, experiences, wishes, and needs of such consumers is a critical first step to provision of meaningful intervention/resolution of problems and establishing trust, self-determination and ultimate wellbeing. Some consumers are able to communicate if provided adequate supports but may not be able to speak/use traditional communication methods. Some develop significant behavioral challenges because they are misunderstood. This session will review medical, neurologic, motoric, developmental and situational conditions that challenge communication between consumers and those who strive to help them. Attendees will be provided with ways to help determine status and improve outcomes and collection of information in interview and interactions. Key examples from working with individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorder, developmental and acquired brain injury, mental illness, post-coma, and other neurological conditions will be used to demonstrate opportunities to improve understanding.

Session 6: Positive Behavior Supports/Understanding Supportive Behavior Techniques
Presenter: Heidi Wale
Being confronted with the specialized language and techniques surrounding behavior treatment plans can be daunting. The “language barrier” may make it difficult to participate in plan reviewing discussions. This presentation provides a basic overview of positive behavioral support strategies. We will examine the importance of understanding why an individual may engage in problem behaviors and how changing the environment, teaching skills, and offering new opportunities are behavioral techniques that can support positive changes. Tips will be shared how to critically review and discuss behavior treatment plans.

Objectives:
Participants will be able to:
1. Describe the concept of behavioral function
2. Identify intended replacement behaviors in a plan
3. Explain what it means to make problem behaviors irrelevant

Session 7: Hospital Rights: Sharing Concerns and Collaborating for Solutions
Presenters: Jennifer Gorman and Sue Witting
This will be a collaborative session addressing concerns that arise within the hospital that affect patients' rights and the rights office. Participants will have an opportunity to brainstorm strategies and share their best solutions. Some of the concerns that will be addressed include: Medication Consents, Aggressive Patient Scales, Communication with Guardians and The differences between ORR and CMS Complaint Resolutions.

Objectives:
1. Participants will review and discuss various LPH/U concerns
2. Participants will collaborate and discuss strategies to address concerns
3. Participants will be provided ways to successfully address issues/concerns at own LPH/U

Session 8: Basic Statement Analysis
Presenter: H. John Wojnaroski, Wojnaroski Consulting Services, LLC
This seminar will provide the participant with an overview of how to analyze a person's statement/words. This technique, LSI-SCAN was authored by Avinoam Sapir, founder of the Laboratory for Scientific Analysis (SCAN). SCAN is an investigative technique that is used to obtain information and detect deception strictly by verbal communication. SCAN is being used throughout the world by investigators (military, law enforcement and private corporations) to identify true and false statements. SCAN operates on the assumption that every person has their own personal linguistic code for how they speak. SCAN shows the investigator how to unlock that code and determine if the person is being truthful or not. This investigative technique does not deal with body language. It only focuses on the person’s words (spoken or written).

Welcome Reception and Dinner
Hosted by: John T. Sanford, III, Director, MDCH-ORR
Wednesday, October 8, 2014, 6:30 pm – 8:30 pm
Session 9: Identifying/Interviewing Individuals with Complex Communication Needs-Part II:
Applying Interview Strategies
Presenter: Lynn Sweeney, CCC-SLP, Speech-Language Pathologist and Augmentative Communication Specialist
Following from Part I, this session will explain and demonstrate a variety of communication tools and strategies for use in basic interactions and interviews with complex communication needs. We will explore simple, on-the-spot approaches that may dramatically enhance your interactions and information gathering as well as no tech, low tech and high tech options for communication. Use of many strategies and communication tools will be demonstrated and participants will be given opportunities to practice partner assisted approaches, alternatives for choice making, and generating of yes/no answering. Modeling and real case examples from individuals with developmental and acquired brain injury, Autism Spectrum Disorders, Locked in Syndrome/severe motor limitation, degenerative disease, cognitive impairment and other challenges will help improve understanding of the elements of successful receptive and expressive communication in the interview process.

Objectives:
1. Participants will be able to identify basic situational, receptive and expressive communication supports and strategies for improving interviews with individuals, who may not be able to readily understand, speak, write, or use traditional communication means
2. Participants will improve their ability to gain meaningful responses from individuals with receptive and expressive communicative challenges
3. Participants will learn important strategies for use of communication boards and device, partner assisted scanning, eye gaze, alternative choice making, etc. to improve outcomes of interviews and basic interactions
Session 10: Designing Your Training to Meeting the needs of ALL participants
Presenter: Jean Pfaendtner
Have you ever planned a Rights training session for 15 and only had five show up? How about planning for a small group had having 25 show up? These are some of the unexpected events that can happen to novice as well as experienced recipient Rights trainers. This workshop will focus on the design of training for very small groups (1-3 participants) to large groups of 20 or more. Participants will have the opportunity to learn about design of training for all size groups as well as have the opportunity to practice what you learn. Come and join us for a “work” session as we explore the array of options available to us.

Session 11: Secondary Trauma Stress and its Personal and Professional Impact
Presenter: Jim Henry
This presentation will define STS, identify STS symptoms, and provide strategies to address STS in the workforce. A description of the interaction between organizational stress and STS will occur. The difference between STS and burnout will be described.

Objectives:
1. Participants will learn what STS is
2. Participants will learn how to identify STS
3. Participants will review differences between STS and burnout
4. Participants will learn strategies to address STS and organizational stress

Session 12: Mental Health Ethics and Pain Management
Presenter: Dennis Potter
MUST BE TAKEN WITH SESSION 16 AND SESSION 20 FOR FULL CREDIT
Pain is often misunderstood and highly subjective. Chronic pain becomes central in one’s life. Pain relief becomes the most important aspect of life and is often misunderstood by health care professionals. It can appear to be attention seeking, drug seeking, or psychologically based. Often there is no clearly identifiable cause by objective medical technological testing. How do we assist people with chronic pain, who may have a substance dependence problem? What are the ethical issues that we face in trying to do the “most right thing” for our clients?

Objectives:
1. Participants will be able to identify 3 ethical dilemmas in their work
2. Participants will be able to demonstrate a model for Ethical decision making
3. Participants will be able to define chronic pain
4. Participants will be able to list 4 key parts of a pain management plan

LUNCH
Thursday, October 9, 2014, 12:30 pm – 1:30 pm
Session 13: Being Involuntary: What Every Rights Advisor Should Know About Chapter 4
Presenter: Beverly Sobolewski
Do you find yourself lost whenever you try to explain chapter 4? Are you panicked when someone asks, "What do we do about ...? or, "Where is that in the code?" Well, fear no more. in this session, admission, deferral, court hearings and discharge will all be dissected. Participants will follow the journey of an applicant through the entire admission and hospitalization process, both for voluntary and involuntary recipients. In addition, the responsibility of community mental health in the admission and discharge process, including "Kevin's Law" (330.1433) will be discussed.

Session 14: Surrogate Decision Making for Health Care in Michigan (Guardianships in Michigan)
Presenter: Bradley Geller, J.D.
No civil legal proceeding has more impact on the rights of an individual than guardianship. To best assist clients, providers of mental health services must be aware of alternatives to full guardianship. Providers should help clients plan for the possibility of incapacity through the use of advance directives, which may obviate the need for guardianship and civil commitment proceedings. For serving clients within the guardianship system, providers must understand the legal process; when guardian is appropriate; and the proper powers, duties and limits of a guardian. Finally, counselors should understand the variance in practice in probate courts throughout the state.
Objectives:
1. Understand the various legal mechanisms for surrogate-decision making and the advantages/disadvantages of each, including the difference between guardianship under the Mental Health Code and guardianship under the Estates and Protected Individuals Code
2. Gain knowledge of the impact of guardianship upon an individual, the proper role of a guardian, and issues with professional guardian.
3. Learn about the differences in practice among the state’s probate courts, how best to advocate for clients within the system, and how to assist clients in avoiding probate court proceedings.

Session 15: Analysis of Evidence under the Preponderance-of-the-Evidence Standard
Presenter: Phil Pucillo, J.D.
In the course of investigating an alleged violation of rights, a Recipient Rights Officer is called upon to find facts by a preponderance of the evidence. This presentation will focus on the meaning and proper application of the preponderance-of-the-evidence standard, as contrasted with other commonly applied evidentiary standards (i.e., beyond a reasonable doubt). The presentation will also address the distinction between direct and circumstantial evidence, features of a witness statement that may enhance or detract from its weight, and the general unreliability of hearsay.
Objectives:
1. Provide a basic understanding of the preponderance-of-the-evidence standard
2. Increase familiarity with the process of weighing evidence to determine whether the standard has been satisfied
3. Increase awareness of a particular kinds of evidence that may be reliable or unreliable.

Session 16: Mental Health Ethics and Pain Management
Presenter: Dennis Potter, LMSW
CONTINUATION OF SESSION 12 AND SESSION 20 FOR FULL CREDIT
Session 17: Meeting the Mental Health Needs of Returning Veterans in Michigan.
Presenter: Mark Kane, Ph.D.
The session will review the history of PTSD, cross-cultural nature of working with combat troops/vets and their families. Also reviewed will be the new criteria of the DSM-V diagnosis for PTSD focusing on adults including Military Sexual Trauma (MST), and Combat Traumatic Brain Injury. This session will also focus on tools for assessment, and “Best Practices” explaining how good case management skills are needed to address bruxism, sleep apnea, hormonal issues, self-medication, mood disorders and family issues.

Objectives:
1. Participants will review the history of PTSD.
2. Be exposed to the new criteria of the DMS-V diagnosis of PTSD and Combat Traumatic Brain Injury, and how both overlap.

Session 18: Excel @ Excel!
Presenter: Glenn Momeyer
Excel is the most one of the most used Office applications, but many users only understand its basic functions. Excel can be so much more than a quick way to add or subtract. Sure, you can do budgets too, but Excel can be used to track everything from incident reports to case timelines. Our speaker for this session will show you how to unleash your Excel power and make many of your daily activities seem carefree. He will also go over the annual report template which has been revised to make your life – and ours – much less strenuous.

Session 19: Analysis of Evidence under the Preponderance-of-the-Evidence Standard
Presenter: Phil Pucillo, J.D.
REPEAT OF SESSION 15

Session 20: Mental Health Ethics and Pain Management
Presenter: Dennis Potter, LMSW
MUST BE TAKEN WITH SESSION 12 AND SESSION 16 FOR FULL CREDIT
Session 21: NGRI, IST – Aren’t You Just a Little Curious?
Recipient Rights staff in the community have little experience with people who are Not Guilty by Reason of Insanity (NGRI) and know very little about this category. This session will help provide an overview of what the term means and what consequences being categorized as NGRI might have for someone. Our speaker will talk about when and how the defense was established and developed, what does a recipient with NGRI status “looks like” in clinical and behavioral terms, what the expectations might be for becoming more independent. She will also address the composition and role of the NGRI Committee and whether any of the restrictive, intrusive or any other limitation requirements mandated by NGRI status require BTC review or approval.

Session 22: Validating Our Patients
Presenters: Nicole Stromberg, M.D., DeAnna Champagne, Kristin Michelson, Jill Polisano
This workshop will be a follow-up to the presentation on DBT Skills at the 2013 Conference. Presenters will discuss the concepts of validation, and some theoretical background to help understand how lack of validation can relate to emotional challenges later in life. Additionally, participants will have a chance to practice communicating in a validating way during role plays. Presenters will give feedback. This session is designed to be interactive in nature.

Objectives:
1. Understand the concept of emotional validation.
2. Understand levels of validation and be able to recognize levels of invalidation.
3. Improve ability to recognize one’s own communication style and improve your ability to provide a validation in the context of appropriate professional boundaries.

Session 23: It’s all about the Words!
Speaker: Daniel Marsano
The ability to conduct a thorough and comprehensive interview is the most important skill any investigator needs. This session will provide a firm foundation for extracting maximum information during the interview process, while also exploring proven methods for the detection of deception and/or missing information. Utilizing linguistic analysis techniques, we will discuss ways to find the hidden clues in the subject’s own language that present a clearer picture of what happened and what the subject really knows.
ABOUT OUR SPEAKERS:

DeAnna Champagne, MSW, received her Master’s in Social Work from Wayne State University. She is currently a therapist on the adult inpatient unit and an active member of the team implementing the DBT-informed skills program at Henry Ford Kingswood Hospital.

Bradley Geller, J.D. served as counsel to the Age Discrimination Study conducted by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights in 1976-1978. He subsequently developed a legal services project for older adults in a three county area in Michigan, work which led to his 1982 book, Changes and Choices: Legal Rights of Older Adults. As counsel to the Michigan House Judiciary Committee, Mr. Geller drafted the Michigan Guardianship Reform Act of 1988. He participated in drafting statutes creating the durable power of attorney for health care and the do-not-resuscitate procedure act. In the position of counsel to the Washtenaw County Probate, he managed the adult guardianship and conservator system, and initiated Project Dignity. The project’s goals were the promotion of alternatives to full guardianship; the education of guardians, conservators and guardians ad litem; the use of medication; and the creation of a volunteer guardianship program.

Janette Ghedotte is a Clinical Psychologist, an Imago Relationship Therapist, and a Body Language Expert. Janette Ghedotte specializes in helping others learn the skills required to achieve interpersonal communication, relationship and business SUCCESS. Janette has a M.A. in Humanistic and Clinical Psychology, M.S., Marketing Research, B.A. in Psychology.

Jennifer Gorman, Recipient Rights Advisor, Patient relations Coordinator, CPI Certified Instructor and VOICE (incident reporting) administrator at St Mary Mercy Hospital in Livonia. She has worked for Trinity Health for the last 20 years working in customer services before coming to rights 4 years ago. She also spent time at St Joes Oakland as the interim rights advisor. She holds a bachelor’s degree in Sociology and Social Work from Eastern Michigan University.

Lisa Grost is the Administrator for the Children and Adults with Autism Spectrum Disorders Program at the Michigan Department of Community Health. Her primary focus is facilitating applied behavior analysis services to children on the Medicaid/MIChild autism benefit. She was instrumental in the movement of autism safety trainings in Michigan. Her dedication and effort has resulted in high quality, impactful trainings for law enforcement, emergency services, and communities (local organizations, families, schools and faith based organizations.) Ms. Grost has over 20 years of experience in improving policies, systems and environments to support health and positive lifestyles. She received a Master of Science in Health Services Administration and Bachelor of Science in Community Development from Central Michigan University.

James Henry, CTAC co-founder and project director has a professional history that includes over 17 years as a child welfare/protective services worker. He is a professor at Western Michigan University’s School of Social Work for 15 years with a focus on developing and providing trauma-informed instruction in the Social Work curriculum. Dr. Henry has received several awards including the 2012 Western Michigan University Health and Human Services Scholar Award, 2003 Michigan Child Advocate of the Year, (Ray Helfer Award) Michigan Professional Society on the Abuse of Children (MiPSAC), 1991 Child Advocate of the Year, Kalamazoo Child Abuse and Neglect Council, and the 1990 Exemplary Child Welfare Worker of the Year, Michigan Chapter National Association of Social Workers. He has published over 20 articles in professional journals and presents at national and international conferences on the traumatic impact of child maltreatment. He is the principal investigator in three SAMHSA National Child Traumatic Stress Initiative grants, an ACF Administration for Children and Families grant and the principal investigator in two federal SAFE START Initiatives for children exposed to violence. He has... served on two national committees of the National Child Traumatic Stress Network (NCTSN) that developed trauma informed curricula for child welfare workers and resource parents. He is co-chair of the NCTSN Child Welfare Committee and on the Steering Committee for the NCTSN. He is a coauthor of a book, Seeking Justice, which explores best models of system intervention in child sexual abuse.

Carol Holden, Ph.D is the Director of the Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Saline, MI.

Mark Kane, Ph.D. is licensed by the State of Michigan as a fully-licensed Psychologist. Dr. Kane is currently the director of Riverview Psychological Services, P.C. and has served as contractor with the Grand Rapids Vets Center providing readjustment counseling to combat veterans for the last 16 years. Mark received his Doctorate in Psychology in 1993 from Union Institute and University. He received his Masters of Arts Degree from Anderson University and School of Theology, Anderson, Indiana. He has worked as an Adjunct Professor at Michigan State University, Western Michigan University, and Grand Valley State University, where he taught education courses for teachers completing their MA on Global Education. Mark’s presentations on Post Traumatic Stress Disorder have been offered at various conferences throughout Michigan: Michigan Occupational Health Conference (09/2013); Western Michigan Veterans Coalition Quarterly meeting; Hidden Wounds of War Conference (03/2014); Michigan Psychological Association Annual Rural Conference (05/2014).

Steve Luxenberg a Washington Post Associate editor and author, is a Detroit native. Post reporters working with Steve have won two Pulitzer Prizes. Steve’s award-winning nonfiction book, Annie’s Ghosts: A Journey Into a Family Secret-part detective story, part social history-revolves around his mother’s decision to hide the existence of a sister, Annie, who was institutionalized for 31 years in the Michigan asylum known as Eloise. The Michigan Humanities Council selected the book as “The Great Michigan Read” for 2013-2014, a year-long series of events throughout the state. In 2010, Steve was chosen to give the annual Horace W. Davenport Distinguished Lecture in the Medical Humanities at the University of Michigan. His talks include keynotes at NAMI’s annual gala in Washington and at the Carter Center in Atlanta. Steve also has a TV “credit” — look carefully, and spot him as an extra in HBO’s dramatic series “The Wire” (hint, season 5, episode 3). Steve and his wife Mary Jo Kirschman, a former school librarian, live in Baltimore.
