

CSHCS INFO #22-2014 - MICHild and PDN
Tue 5/13/2014

Dear Colleagues:

It has come to our attention that not everyone is aware that MICHild covers Private Duty Nursing (PDN) services as needed. This was a question when we were first starting to convert MICHild into the existing health plans and away from BCBS. We may not have made a full announce about the answer to that concern.

In addition, there is still no co-pay for the service. So even if a person has both Medicaid and MICHild at the same time (MA usually covers retroactively) and the client needs PDN, they are still able to get it through their MICHild health plan.

If you have a client in MICHild who needs PDN it is imperative that the family seek that service from the MICHild health plan.
