NEW CONTINUING EDUCATION TRAINING
Available for Dental Hygienists and Dental Assistants

After completing this training, participants will understand the need for better oral health care among residents in long-term care facilities, and how to take action toward that need; understand issues and health treatment considerations related to the oral health care of the elderly; understand how to provide clinical care to this population; and know where to get more details and training on dental care for the elderly.

Funding for the training is provided by the Department of Health and Human Services Health Resources and Services Administration Grants to Support Oral Health Workforce Activities (T12HP10742). The contents of the training are solely the responsibility of the authors and do not necessarily represent the official view of HRSA.
