Time	Item
9:00am	Welcome During Virtual Open Meetings, it is important that all voices are heard and that all comments are recorded audibly for closed-captioning. For these two reasons, we are switching our discussion protocol. As appropriate to topic, the chair will officially open the floor for discussion. Instead of visibly raising hands – a cue that is hard to manage - council members with a comment or question will type "comment" or "question" in the chat. The secretary will run through the list, in order, and call on each council member to speak when it is their turn. A council member can also enter a full comment or question in the chat. When the secretary reaches that comment or question, they will ask the council member if they would like to read it aloud. If they decline, the secretary will read it aloud to record it for the closed-captioning record.
