Parent Connect Calls

Conversations with parents of children with special needs!

We need your input!

There have been many changes these last few months which has caused a lot of uncertainty and disruption. As families are dealing with added stress right now, we want to provide added support. The purpose of this online conversation is to listen to the concerns and needs of Michigan's families and get input on what topics are on the hearts of families. We want to use your input to provide follow up support to families across the state.
