MICHIGAN HISTORIC SITE
POINTE AUX BARQUES LIGHTHOUSE
 The Pointe aux Barques Lighthouse and Lifesaving Station aided mariners for over a century, beginning in 1847. That year the U.S. Lighthouse Service built the first lighthouse on this site to mark the turning point of Lake Huron into the St. Clair River and to warn of shallow water. The lighthouse became the first female light keeper in Michigan. It was named for her husband, John D. Shook, who died while dwelling on this site in 1892. The lighthouse was built by the U.S. Lighthouse Service in 1847.

THE BIRTH OF PROFESSIONAL HOCKEY
 In 1905-06 the Portage Lake Hockey Club became the first hockey team to pay all of its players. In March 1907 the club won the U.S. National Championship and both the Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins were founded in the Houghton Amateur Hockey Association. Later that year local entrepreneur James Duce and Houghton dentist John The Gibson, a former hockey player originally from Ontario, organized the first professional hockey league, the International Hockey League (IHL). The IHL began play in December 1904 and continued to operate from Houghton, Michigan until 1907. The IHL was founded in Houghton, Michigan, and Portage Lake, Michigan, and was the start of professional hockey.
