B. ORDER OF GAS CURTAILMENT - Plan 2
(To Stay Within Supplies Curtailed Below Contract Demands)

Whenever, in the Company's sole opinion, the Company's gas supply is curtailed below the contract demand quantity specified in the Company's service agreements with Northern Natural Gas Company, so as to require the Company to curtail or interrupt service to avoid the payment of penalties for overtake of gas, such curtailment or interruption shall be made in accordance with the priorities of Northern Natural Gas Company's curtailment plan on file with and as authorized by the Federal Power Commission as set forth below. Except as provided herein, curtailment or interruptions of customers within the same priority shall be made, so far as possible, on a pro rata basis.

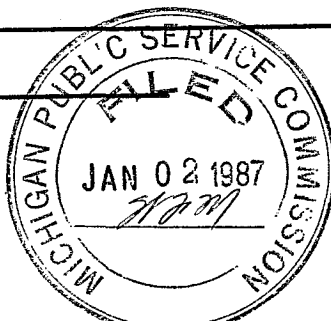

The Company may deviate from this order of curtailment or interruption for brief periods in order to avoid shutdown of customer's facilities in force majeure or similar situations. In case of such deviation, the Company will, so far as practicable, subsequently equalize the curtailment within any priority.

The Company may also deviate from this order of curtailment or interruption and interrupt interruptible loads of a higher priority to avoid curtailing firm loads of a lower priority, when such firm loads do not have alternate fuel capability. Such interruptions of interruptible loads will be made in the inverse order of the priorities in which such interruptible loads are classified, with full or 100 percent interruption to be directed and achieved in each priority before proceeding to the next priority. Interruptions will be terminated in reverse order as gas supplies permit. Interruptions of interruptible loads within any priority will be done on a pro rata basis as far as practicable. Any deviations from such pro rata interruptions will be equalized subsequently to the extent practicable.

GAS COST RECOVERY FACTORS

Contingency Mechanism

The Gas Cost Recovery Factors on Page 65 above are subject to adjustment pursuant to the following contingency mechanism:

The Gas Cost Recovery factors on Sheet G65 shall be adjusted by $0.0008 per therm for every $0.01 per MMBtu increase or decrease in the NYMEX futures contract prices for the upcoming quarter. The contingent factor shall be equal to .08 times (NYMEX futures contract average price for the quarter less the NYMEX base price for the quarter.)

The NYMEX futures contract average price for the upcoming quarter shall be calculated using the simple average of the actual monthly NYMEX futures contract prices, at the time of calculation, at least fifteen days but no more than thirty days prior to the beginning of the quarter.

The calculation of the contingent factor and an updated rate sheet No. 65 will be supplied to the Michigan Public Service Commission at least 15 days prior to the beginning of the quarter.

The NYMEX base prices are as follows:

1st Quarter - April 2001 through June 2001

$5.338 per MMBtu.

2nd Quarter - July 2001 though September 2001

$5.405 per MMBtu

3rd Quarter - October 2001 through December 2001

$5.517 per MMBtu

4th Quarter - January 2002 through March 2002

$5.420 per MMBtu

EMERGENCY WINTER PEAK SERVICE

Effective In: Entire territory served.Availability and Character of Service:

This emergency gas service is available to any interruptible customer of the Company purchasing gas under rate schedule numbers 61 or 62, to supply limited gas service to such customer when the customer is confronted with an emergency situation, such as breakdown of alternate fuel equipment, unavailability of alternate fuel, or other circumstances which prevent the use of alternate fuels and are beyond the reasonable control of the customer.

This emergency service is available only when the Company, in its sole judgment, shall have sufficient gas available under the terms of its contract with Northern Natural Gas Company, or can release sufficient gas from the operation of its Park Falls peak shaving facility. "Sufficient" gas as used herein shall mean quantities that can be delivered without curtailing deliveries to customers purchasing gas on firm service rate schedules.

Separate arrangements must be made with the Company for each emergency for which service is required and the Company may deny such service, if, in its sole judgment, it does not have sufficient gas from sources specified above to provide such emergency service requests. Service under this rate schedule is subject to curtailment or interruption by the Company at any time, on not less than 30 minutes' notice to the customer.

In the event the Company does not have sufficient gas available to satisfy all requests for emergency gas service under this rate schedule, such service and any curtailments of such service will be in the order of the following priorities:

First Priority: Commercial Heat - this includes hospitals, schools, etc.
Second Priority: Commercial Process
Third Priority: Industrial Process
Fourth Priority: Industrial Heat

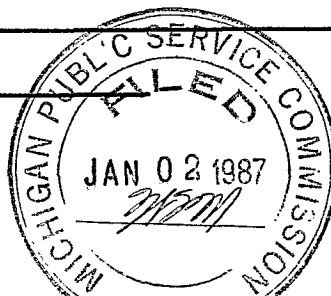

Service will be provided in the order of the foregoing priorities and curtailments of service will be in the inverse order of such priorities.

EMERGENCY WINTER PEAK SERVICE (Continued)

Net Rate per Month:

(A) Emergency gas deliveries made hereunder will be included with normal (non-emergency) usage and billed out at the applicable interruptible rate.

(B) To the bill determined from (A) above will be added the following surcharges:

- (1) $.58 per therm of temporary emergency deliveries;
- (2) Plus the following adjustment if applicable: Subsequent to August 8, 1979, if the cost of No. 2 fuel oil delivered to the Company's Flambeau Electric Generating Station at Park Falls, Wisconsin is increased or decreased above or below the base cost of $.66595 per gallon, there will be a corresponding adjustment to the cost per therm in (1) above in accordance with the following computation:
 - (a) From the current cost per gallon of No. 2 fuel oil delivered to Flambeau Station, subtract $.66595 per gallon;
 - (b) Divide the total obtained in line (a) by $1.40 (equivalent cost per therm of natural gas);
 - (c) Round the quotient in line (b) to the nearest whole cent and add this amount to the $.58 shown in (1) above.

Effective Date:

This rate shall become effective as indicated below when approved by the regulatory Commission having jurisdiction and may be terminated at any time that the Company reports to such regulatory Commission that "sufficient" gas hereunder is no longer available.

Special Terms:

(A) Service under this rate schedule is for the exclusive use of the customer and is not to be resold or shared with others.

(B) Gas meters will be read by the Company immediately preceding and following all emergency service provided under this rate schedule.

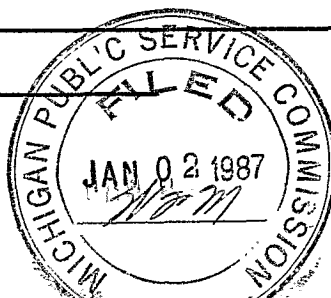

(C) In the event a customer fails to curtail service under this rate schedule when requested by the Company, the Company shall have the right to turn off the customer's gas supply provided under this rate schedule.

(D) The penalty for unauthorized take of gas set forth on Sheet Number 13 of the Company's Rules and Regulations shall apply.
