Life Insurance Beneficiary Designation – State Employees, State Police, Judges

Instructions

Use this form to:

- Designate a different beneficiary from any previous beneficiaries.
- Designate a new beneficiary because your previously designated beneficiary is deceased.
- Change your beneficiary due to a divorce.

Note: Divorce automatically cancels a spouse's beneficiary designation. If you want to keep your ex-spouse as a beneficiary, you must file a new form listing "ex-spouse" in the "Relationship" box.

Who can be named as a beneficiary?

- Any person or institution, except a funeral home.
- A Trust (Be sure to send in the first, second, and last page of the trust.)
- Your Estate (The designation can state either "my estate" or "the estate of (your name)." Note: You cannot name the estate of another person.

If you do not have a beneficiary listed or living:

Your life insurance benefit will be paid to your relatives in this order:

- First, to your spouse, if living;
- Otherwise, equally to your natural and adopted child(ren);
- Otherwise, equally to your surviving parent(s);
- Otherwise, equally to your brother(s) and sister(s);
- Otherwise, to your estate.

Power of Attorney.

If you have a Power of Attorney (POA) listed, that designation will not be reviewed until the time a claim is made. Check periodically to make sure your POA on file is valid.

Naming a beneficiary on this form.

List your beneficiary (or beneficiaries) in Section I. If you want to name a married or widowed woman as your beneficiary, list her full given name – Mary J. Smith, not Mrs. John H. Smith. Likewise, a participant who is married or widowed should use her full given name.

If you name two or more beneficiaries, indicate the percentage each beneficiary should receive in the % Share If Not Equal box beside each beneficiary's name. If you do not indicate percentages, they will each receive an equal share of your insurance benefit payment. The % Share If Not Equal box percentages must total 100 percent. Do not specify dollar amounts.

Naming a contingent beneficiary on this form.

You may designate a contingent beneficiary who will receive your life insurance benefit if your named beneficiary (or beneficiaries) decease(s) before you do. List your choice in Section II. You may list your estate as a contingent beneficiary.
