

MICHIGAN'S TECH INDUSTRY

■ The average tech industry wage in Michigan is $92,000.

■ Michigan's tech sector was responsible for an estimated 7.5% or $34.7 billion of the overall state economy in 2017.

■ The state also saw a 43.4% jump in the number of job postings related to emerging technologies, such as smart cities, drones, AI, machine learning, and virtual and augmented reality.

■ In total, Michigan employers posted 124,730 jobs for tech positions last year.

■ Leading tech occupations in Michigan include software and web developers, computer support specialists, and computer system and information security analysts.

■ The strongest year-over-year job growth occurred in the categories of R&D, testing, and engineering services and software.

