CLAIMING UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS IN MICHIGAN

If you become unemployed, you may qualify for unemployment insurance benefits. These benefits are intended to provide temporary income as you seek new employment. To be eligible for unemployment benefits, you must be unemployed and able to, available for, and actively seeking suitable full-time work.

Filing for and Receiving Benefits: Michigan's 4-Step Process

A claim for unemployment benefits begins the week it is filed. Therefore, you should file your claim during your first week of unemployment.

STEP 1: File a claim.

Information Needed to File a Claim:

1. Your social security number,
2. Your state issued driver's license or ID card number or your MARVIN PIN (if you have one),
3. The names and addresses of employers you worked for during the past 18 months along with your quarterly gross earnings,
4. The last date of employment with each employer.
5. Your most recent employer's Unemployment Insurance account number or Federal ID number (especially if you have not filed a claim within the last three years or have been employed for less than six months). Depending on your situation, knowing the account number may speed up the processing of your claim (Administrative Rule 421.204(3)(a) requires the employer's UI account number be given to employees and the employer's Federal ID number appears on your annual W-2 form).
6. If you are not a U.S. citizen or national, you will need your Alien Registration number and the expiration date of your work authorization.

For a detailed worksheet of what you need to file a claim, visit UIA's website, click on the "FORMS" option from the upper left menu, and select Form UIA 1538 - What You Need to File an Unemployment Claim.

There are two ways in which to file a new claim or re-open an existing claim:

1. Michigan Web Account Manager (MiWAM) – Visit the Unemployment Insurance website at www.michigan.gov to file a claim and set up your online account anytime – 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Click on Michigan Web Account Manager for Claimants and Employers. If you need a computer with Internet access, visit your local public library as most have computers with Internet connections available for public use.
2. Telephone – Call 1-866-500-0017 to file your claim Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

When you apply for benefits, you can choose to receive your benefits through either a debit card or by direct deposit to your bank account. Once the claim is successfully entered online or by phone, you will be given a confirmation number.

STEP 2: Register for work.

After the claim is filed, applicants must register for work to be eligible for unemployment benefits. To register, you must create an account and profile with Pure Michigan Talent Connect no later than three business days before your first contact to report for benefits (see Step 4). Create your profile online at www.mitalent.org or by visiting a Michigan Works! Agency service (MWA) center. Even if you create your profile online, you must also report in person to an MWA service center to have your profile validated. To locate the nearest Michigan Works! Agency office, please visit www.michiganworks.org.

FACT SHEET #160

STEP 3: Search for work.

All claimants who begin a claim for benefits after January 6, 2013 are required to conduct a sustained work search of at least two employers for each week they claim unemployment benefits. As a claimant, you must report your record of work search at least once a month using one of the following methods:

- Submit information online using your MiWAM account.
- Submit form UIA 1583, Record of Work Search, via mail or fax.
- Appear at a Michigan Works Agency location to file a work search form.

STEP 4: Report online with MiWAM or with MARVIN by phone to receive benefits.

In order to receive your benefits, you must report biweekly that you are eligible for payment by answering eligibility questions, such as if you are able, available, and looking for work, and whether or not you have earnings during the two-week period for which you are reporting. You may report online through your MiWAM account 24 hours a day, Monday through Saturday. If you do not have a MiWAM account, sign up for one at www.michigan.gov/uia. Click on Michigan Web Account Manager for Claimants and Employers. For instructions on how to sign up for a MiWAM account, click on MiWAM Toolkit for Claimants.

You may also report by calling MARVIN, the Agency's automated benefit payment system at 1-866-638-3993 during your reporting week anytime Monday through Saturday between 8:00 AM and 7:00 PM.

Additional Information

Once you file your new claim, you will be mailed:

- A determination showing if you qualify based on the wages you have earned, the amount of weekly benefits and the number of weeks you may receive.
- If there is an eligibility issue with your claim, you will receive a separate notice
- A booklet with detailed information about your rights and responsibilities for unemployment benefits, unless you have chosen to view the booklet online. Please read this material carefully.

Qualifying requirements – The UIA will look at your standard base period to determine if your wages qualify you for unemployment benefits. The standard base period includes the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters prior to when you filed your claim. The four calendar quarters in a year are: January – March; April – June; July – September; and October – December.

If you cannot qualify based on your standard base period, your wages in the “alternate” base period, which is the four most recently completed calendar quarters will be considered.

There are two ways in which your wages may qualify you for unemployment benefits:

- “Regular” qualifying method: a) for benefit years beginning January 1, 2018, you must have wages in at least two quarters in your base period. In one quarter, your wages must be at least $3,589; and b) total wages for all four quarters must equal at least one and a half times the highest amount of wages paid in any quarter of the base period ($$3,589 \times 1.5 = $5,383$); or
- Alternate Earnings Qualifier (AEQ): (a) You must have wages in at least two quarters; and (b) total wages for all four quarters must equal at least 20 times the state average weekly wage (SAWW). For 2018, the AEQ amount is $19,986.20 [$20 \times \999.31 (SAWW) = $19,986.20].

Benefit Duration

State unemployment benefits are usually limited to a maximum of up to 20 weeks.

Benefit Amount

Your quarterly wages largely determine the amount of your unemployment benefits. The amount you receive in unemployment benefits is calculated by multiplying the highest amount of wages paid to you in any base period quarter by 4.1%. Six dollars will be added for each dependent you claim, up to five dependents. According to State law, a worker can receive no more than $362 per week.

To determine how many weeks of benefits you may receive, your total base period wages will be multiplied by 43%, and then that number will be divided by your weekly benefit amount. The claim, however, cannot be less than 14 weeks or more than 20.

Receiving unemployment benefits while working – In some cases, you can accept part-time work while receiving unemployment benefits. However, your work must be less than full-time, and your benefits will be reduced according to how much you earn in the week for which you are claiming benefits.

There are three basic principles that affect how much you can earn while receiving unemployment benefits: (1) if your wages are equal to or less than your weekly benefit amount, then your benefits are reduced by 50 cents for every dollar you earn; (2) if your wages exceed your weekly benefit amount, but are less than 1.5 times your benefit amount, then your total wages are subtracted from 1.5 times your weekly benefit amount; and (3) the combination of your weekly benefits and wages cannot exceed 1.5 times your weekly benefit amount.

A point to remember: The number of benefit weeks remaining on your claim will be reduced by one full week for each week you receive any benefit payment.

FACT SHEET #119 August 2015

Electronic Payment Options for Receiving Unemployment Benefits

The Unemployment Insurance Agency (UIA) has two options for receiving unemployment benefit payments. Unemployed workers may choose whether to receive their benefits through the Michigan UI Debit Card or through Direct Deposit into their savings or checking account. When a worker applies for unemployment benefits, whether by telephone, at 1-866-500-0017, or online at www.michigan.gov/uia, they will be asked to select their benefit payment option.

Advantages of direct deposit and debit card

These two benefit payment options are faster, more secure and a convenient alternative to paper checks. They also eliminate the worry about mail delays as the benefits are electronically deposited into the individual's bank account or added to their debit card.

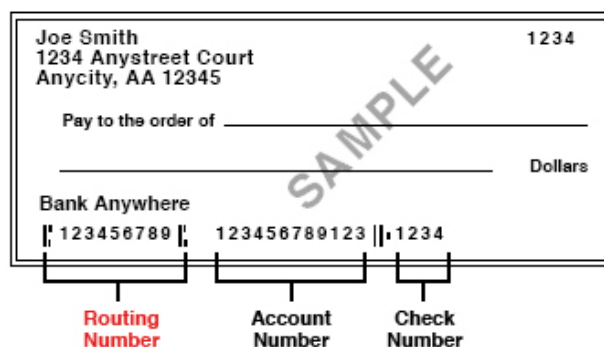

The debit card will be issued or the direct deposit option will be established once UIA issues a monetary determination. Funds will be added to the worker's Michigan UI Debit Card or deposited into the individual's bank or credit union account within two or three days after they have made their biweekly eligibility certification either through UIA's MARVIN system by telephone, or online through the Michigan Web Account Manager (MiWAM), if they have been determined to be eligible.

Individuals are not locked into one payment method for the duration of their claims. They can change their benefit payment method by calling UIA's toll-free claims line at 1-866-500-0017. Workers can also change their payment option online through MiWAM. Customers may log in or establish a MiWAM account at www.michigan.gov/uia.

Direct Deposit

In order to use the direct deposit option, individuals must have an existing account with a U.S. financial institution. Through direct deposit, the individual can have his or her unemployment benefits deposited into either a checking or savings account.

When selecting direct deposit as their payment option, individuals will need their bank or credit union's nine-digit routing number and their account number. The sample check shows where these numbers are located on a person's personal check.

Once the Direct Deposit option is set up, a worker's unemployment benefits will be electronically deposited into his/her checking or savings account.

Debit Card

UIA is partnering with Bank of America to provide debit card services. The debit card can be used to:

- Purchase goods and services everywhere debit MasterCard is accepted.
- Withdraw funds at thousands of ATMs and from tellers at any bank or credit union that accepts MasterCard. To locate a MasterCard ATM, visit www.bankofamerica.com/miuiadebitcard.

There may be fees and surcharges associated with the use of the debit card. Those selecting the cards will be advised of those charges when they receive their card.

Some prepaid card transactions may be handled differently such as paying at the gas pump, restaurants, hotels, auto rentals, and returns. Some purchases may cause a temporary hold on funds (up to $100 at a gas pump), some merchants may require a credit card to accompany your purchase and others may require verification of your card balance before processing a prepaid debit card transaction. More details on these special transactions are provided in the materials that come with your card.

Debit card withdrawals from ATMs are limited to $1,000 per day in an effort to protect cardholders against fraudulent transactions.

Cardholders cannot make deposits or add funds to their Michigan UI Debit Card. In addition, no line of credit is attached to the UI debit card.

The Michigan UI Debit Card will be automatically issued to individuals who do not select a benefit payment option. The card does not expire for three years. Claimants should keep the card for use with possible future claims. When a card expires, Bank of America will send a new card, if necessary.

Customer support

Those who choose to use the Michigan UI Debit Card for their unemployment benefit payments should contact Bank of America with any questions or issues they may have with their card. Bank of America will provide customer support to individuals online at www.bankofamerica.com/miuiadebitcard, and by phone, toll-free at 1-866-436-1964 (for TTY call 1-866-656-5913) for such things as:

- Account balances
- Recent transactions
- Lost, stolen, or damaged cards
- PIN change

Those who decide to use direct deposit should contact their financial institution with their questions.

Unemployed workers with questions about their unemployment benefits can contact the Unemployment Insurance Agency by dialing its toll-free number 1-866-500-0017.

What is Suitable Work?

Michigan's unemployment insurance law requires individuals collecting unemployment benefits to seek full-time suitable work and accept an offer of suitable work. In deciding whether full-time or part-time work is "suitable," the law considers the following criteria:

- Prior earnings
- Length of unemployment
- Prior training and work experience
- Distance of the offered work to the worker's place of residence
- The degree of risk involved to the worker's safety and health

During the first half of a worker's weeks of unemployment benefit payments, the worker is required to accept any suitable work offer if the pay is at least 70% of his or her last gross pay in addition to the above criteria.

After collecting half (50%) of the worker's entitled weeks, an unemployed worker must apply for, and accept work that is outside of his or her past training and experience if the pay is at least:

1. 120% of his or her weekly benefit amount (WBA);
2. The average wage for the particular work in the locality where the job is offered; and
3. The state minimum hourly wage (currently $9.25 an hour).

The law says that if a worker refuses an offer of suitable work, without good cause, the worker may be disqualified from receiving unemployment benefits.

A job is unsuitable if it is vacant due to a labor dispute, if it pays less than the usual wage for that job in the area, or if a worker would be required to join, resign from, or refrain from joining, a union.

How Does the UIA Determine Average Wage Information?

State law requires the UIA to use an online database published by the state. The UIA uses a database published by the Department of Technology, Management, and Budget (DTMB) to determine average hourly and average annual wage information for a specified occupation or job title within a geographic area. This searchable Internet database is available to the public at: <http://milmi.org/datasearch/wage-by-occ>

Examples of refusal of suitable work situations:

Example 1: Suitable Work During the First Half of Benefits

An unemployed electrical engineer files for benefits after being laid off from a manufacturing company. She receives a determination entitling her to 20 weeks of benefits at a weekly benefit amount of $362. The unemployed worker has a degree in engineering and is diligently seeking suitable, full-time work while collecting benefits. After collecting 8 weeks of unemployment benefits, she is offered a full-time job as an engineer near her place of residence with a work commute of 10 miles. The pay offered is at a gross wage of $42,000 per year. Her gross wage at her last employer was $60,000 per year.

Is this Considered Suitable Work?

The work offer is consistent with her past training and work experience and is near her home. The pay offer is at least 70% of her last gross wage ($$60,000 \times .70 = $42,000$). Unless one of the other criteria prevents this job from being suitable, such as a risk to her health or safety, the work offered is suitable.

Example 2: Suitable Work After Collecting Half of Benefits

An unemployed medical assistant files for unemployment benefits in March of 2016 after being laid off from a local hospital. He receives a determination entitling him to 20 weeks of benefits at a weekly benefit amount of $324. He has previous training in the medical field and is certified as a medical assistant with prior work experience as a waiter. After collecting 14 weeks of unemployment benefits, he is offered a part-time job working 25 hours per week as a word processor at an insurance company near his home in Detroit. The offered wage is $16 per hour.

Is this Considered Suitable Work?

Since he collected half of his benefits, he must accept any work offer, regardless of his prior work experience and training as a medical assistant, if the work pays a gross amount of at least 120% of his weekly benefit amount, is the average wage in the locality of the type of work offered, and is at least the state minimum hourly wage (currently $8.50 an hour). In this example, the hourly pay offer exceeds the state minimum hourly wage and the gross pay is greater than 120% of his weekly benefit amount. See below for calculations.

- Gross Wages Per Week Offered = 25 hours of work x $16 per hour = $400 per week
- Weekly Benefit Amount (WBA) = $324
- 120% of WBA = $$324 \times 1.20 = \388.80 rounded down to $388
- $400 gross earnings offered per week is greater than $388, which is 120% of his WBA

However, to be suitable work, the pay offer must also be the average wage for the type of work in the location where the work is offered. For example, the unemployed individual was offered work as a word processor in Detroit and the average hourly wage for a word processor in the Detroit Metropolitan Statistical Area is $17.60. Since the pay offer is less than the average hourly wage in the locality, the work offer would be unsuitable and he may continue to collect benefits if it is determined that he is not disqualified.

Protesting or Appealing a Disqualification Decision: If you have received a determination disqualifying you from benefits due to your refusal of suitable work, you may protest or appeal the (re)determination within 30 days of the mail date on the (re)determination. During an appeal hearing, the employer must prove that a specific offer of work was made to you and that it was suitable. On the other hand, you will have to prove that the offer was not received, or you may have to show why the work was unsuitable, or you may have to explain that you had good cause for refusing the work.

FACT SHEET #125 December 2015

How Severance Pay Affects Unemployment Benefits

Defining Severance Pay

Severance pay is a payment made by the employer when the employee is separated from the job. Severance pay is remuneration and is issued in calculating a worker's benefit payment.

How Severance Pay Can Affect a Worker's Unemployment Benefit

The severance payment, like any other kind of "remuneration," will reduce unemployment benefits otherwise payable in the weeks to which the severance payment is allocated or distributed. If the payment is not allocated to a specific week or weeks by contract or by the employer, then the reduction in unemployment benefits will occur only in the week in which the severance payment is actually made.

Depending on the amount of severance pay, a worker's unemployment benefits can be affected in the following ways:

- If the severance payment attributed to a week equals or exceeds 1.5 times the worker's weekly benefit amount, then the unemployed worker is not entitled to any unemployment benefits for the week.
- If the worker's severance payment is greater than his/her weekly benefit amount but less than 1.5 times the weekly benefit amount, then the full amount of the severance payment is subtracted from 1.5 times the worker's weekly benefit amount. (The balance of weeks remaining on the unemployed worker's claim will be reduced by one week, if the worker claims benefits for that week.)
- If the severance payment is equal to, or less than, the worker's weekly benefit amount, then the claimant's weekly benefit amount will be reduced by 50 cents for each dollar of the total severance payment amount. (The balance of weeks remaining on the unemployed worker's claim will be reduced by one week if the unemployed worker claims that week.)

How Lump Sum and Salary Continuation Payments Affect Unemployment Benefits

In some cases, the employer may make a lump sum severance payment when the worker is separated from a job. If the employer allocates the severance payment to a week or weeks other than the week in which the payment is made, then the worker's weekly unemployment benefits will be reduced in each claimed week to which the severance payment is allocated.

If the employer makes a lump sum severance payment but does not allocate that severance payment to a week or weeks, then the severance payment will reduce the unemployment benefits only in the week in which the lump sum severance payment is made.

If the employer makes weekly or monthly severance payments (sometimes referred to as salary- or wage-continuation payments), then the severance payment will be used to reduce unemployment benefits in the week in which the severance is paid, unless the employer allocates the severance payments to other weeks.

Examples

#1 – The unemployed worker becomes unemployed after working full-time during week ending September 7. The employer pays the unemployed worker a $5,000 severance payment in that week and does not allocate the severance payment to any period. The unemployed worker files a new claim the following week. The worker's benefits are not reduced, as the severance payment was paid prior to the start of the claim and was not allocated to any period for which the unemployed worker was claiming benefits.

#2 – Same facts as in Example 1, except the employer allocates the lump sum severance payment to the six weeks following the job separation. Unless the employer specifies how much will be allocated per week, UIA will equally allocate the payment over the six weeks, reducing the unemployment benefit for each of those six weeks. The severance payment can also be considered wages to qualify for a later claim.

#3 – If the employer makes weekly wage continuation payments for the one-year period following the job separation, benefits would be reduced accordingly in each week. The severance payment can also be considered wages to qualify for a later claim.
