3 Tips to help someone who lost Medicaid or CHIP coverage

Starting February 1, 2023, states can resume Medicaid and CHIP eligibility reviews that they temporarily stopped during the pandemic. When states resume these reviews, millions of people could lose their current Medicaid or CHIP coverage.

If someone loses their Medicaid or CHIP coverage, here are 3 things you can do to help:

1. Encourage them to update their contact information so they don't miss important information or deadlines.

They should contact their state or health plan to update their contact information (like address, phone number, and email address).

Make sure they have the phone number and website for their state's Medicaid or CHIP website.

2. Ask if they got a letter about their coverage status from their state or health plan.

If not, have them contact their state or plan to find out if a letter is coming.

If they did get a letter, tell them to check it carefully for:

- Information about their Medicaid or CHIP coverage status.
- A renewal form they might need to fill out and send back to renew their coverage. If they get a renewal form, it's important they send it back by the deadline in the letter to avoid gaps in their coverage.

Note: If the person lost coverage because they didn't return their renewal form, they may still be within

3. Tell them about their other health coverage options if they no longer qualify for Medicaid or CHIP.

People who lose Medicaid or CHIP coverage may be able to get health coverage through the Health Insurance Marketplace®.

- Most people qualify for savings on a health plan to lower their monthly premium and what they pay when they get care. Savings are based on their household income and size.
- All Marketplace plans cover things like prescription drugs.
