

Know the Facts

(School Bell)

School is back in session. That means football and homecoming. But did you know there could be underage drinking at that victory party. Fifty percent of teen party-goers report attending parties where alcohol is available and during homecoming weekends 47 percent of fatal car crashes of teenagers involve alcohol. Despite this 80 percent of parents don't believe that alcohol is available at those parties. So parents, learn the facts. We all lose when kids booze.

A public service message from the Liquor Control Commission.