Ballmer Group	MI Community Transition Repsonse and Resliency Planning Program	$ 1,500,000.00	$ 709,175.00	The Community Transition Playbook will be a resource that will empower communities to prepare for and respond to economic change and proactively plan for their futures. This project will have three phases: (1) developing and facilitating local tabletop exercises and workshops, (2) creating a community playbook with tools and resources to navigate transition events and develop forward-looking economic diversification, growth and resilience strategies, and (3) establishing a learning cohort of communities from around the state who will receive capacity support to deploy the playbook and community-created strategies. The Community Transition Playbook will not only empower Michigan communities to respond to a changing economy, but it will also increase their ability to proactively develop a plan to diversify and grow in ways that reflect each community's strengths, values and unique characteristics. While this project is deeply informed by extensive outreach to Michigan communities, we believe that this innovative approach can become a national model.
Family & Workers Fund	CWETO	$ 178,000.00	$ 177,129.64	Starting with a pilot focused on Economic Transition Office programming, LEO is partnering with the Burning Glass Institute (BGI) to measure key job quality elements and identify high-quality career pathways and underserved communities who would benefit from accessing them. These data insights and corresponding framework development will help guide the Office's program dollars to businesses that meet our established standards, increase transparency to incentivize best practices adoption, and create more accountability to ensure new energy and infrastructure jobs are high-quality jobs. We will use the learnings from the pilot to integrate this framework and deploy our job quality standards more broadly into other workforce, energy, and infrastructure programs across State departments.
Community Foundation for Southeast Michigan	Housing Access for Justice Involved Individuals Pilot - Housing insecurity	$ 300,000.00	$ 291,666.67	Funding from the Community Foundation for Southeast Michigan is being used to support a pilot location for the Housing for Justice-Involoved Individuals pilot program as well as an external program evaluation. The program is designed to support justice involved individuals with finding and obtaining housing, while also increasing the number of landlords in the selected area who are willing to rent to JIIs through targeted education and incentives.
Windward Fund	OORP	$ 200,000.00	$ 51,933.88	The Windward funding from Heartland Fund is being used to serve as a network partner through the Resource Rural initiative to fund early phase implemenation of ORP's Rural Readiness Program. This program will establish the Rural Readiness Network and support a Rural Readiness Coordinator that will work with communities in Michigan's most underserved regions in order to prepare communities for access to federal funding.
Gilmore Foundation	BSBP	$ 500,000.00	$ 500,000.00	The Irving S Gilmore Foundation provided the funding to the Bureau of Blind Services for a roof replacement at the training center. This funding is available until December 31, 2026.
