

840 RFID Tag Online Vendors

The following list identifies online vendors* who sell official RFID ear tags (tags beginning with the numbers “840”), along with their contact information and the tag manufacturer(s) they carry.

Before purchasing tags, please check with the seller to make sure the 840 RFID tags you’ve selected are approved to use in the intended animal species. For instance, FOFIA tags are only approved for use in cattle and bison, whereas some Allflex tags are approved for use in cattle, bison, deer/elk, and pigs while others can only be used in sheep and goats.

When placing your order, please note that matched 840 tags or other custom orders will result in longer delivery times due to their production complexity.

In addition, if producers are using RFID technology with their dairy herd management system, they should order half duplex (HDX) low frequency (LF) RFID tags, not full duplex (FDX) LF RFID tags nor ultra-high frequency (UHF) RFID tags.

Once RFID tags are received, be sure to apply them with a tagger appropriate for the type of tag being used and in the correct position on the ear for proper tag retention and for the well-being of the animal.
